U. S. TO REJECT RED 'PEACE' BID

Foreman Is Killed In Mill

Bernhard Joseph Klasmeyer Sr., 57, of 1240 Highland Ave., Monessen, was killed today when crushed between two scrap-laden boxes at the Monessen plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yoney said the fatal accident occurred at 8:20 a.m. A few minutes later, Klasmeyer was pronounced dead at the plant hospital by Dr. Thomas B. Herron.

Yoney said Klasmeyer, a foreman in the stock yard of the open hearth department, had walked between two lines of scrap buggies. At the time, cranemen were lifting "charging" boxes off of the buggies in routine fashion.

According to Yoney, an unidentified craneman made a lift which caught Klasmeyer between two boxes. From the crane, it was impossible to see the victim, Yoney said.

Death Accidental

The coroner listed the death as accidental. Klasmeyer died from chest injuries and a ruptured heart, Yoney reported.

The victim was born in Essen, Germany, on Jan. 7, 1901. He came to this country in May of 1923.

Klasmeyer joined Pittsburgh Steel on Aug. 19, 1937 as a laborer in the open hearth department. A month later, he was transferred to the electrical weld.

In 1948, Klasmeyer was appointed foreman in the stock yard.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anne Leinberger Klasmeyer; two sons, Bernhard Jr., with the U.S. Navy at Bainbridge, Md., and Ronald at home; and two daughters, Shirley Ann and Bernadette, both at home.

Friends will be received at the Check Home for Funerals, 100 Schoonmaker Ave., tomorrow after 2 p.m. Funeral arrangements are still incomplete.

To Open Four Ballot Boxes In Monongahela

Four Monongahela ballot boxes will be opened Friday in Washington County to decide a closely-contested race for one of Monongahela's two council seats.

Vying for the post are Democrat William Pellegrini and Republican Lewis S. Warren.

Three petitions were filed on behalf of Warren, who trailed Pellegrini by two votes, 1,240 to 1,238, on the basis of official returns, after taking a one-vote lead in unofficial tabulations.

The other petition was filed by Pellegrini supporters.

Attorney George Modrak was named by Judge George T. Cummins to head a three-member committee which will open the boxes in the public meeting room of the courthouse on Friday. Other members are Mrs. Joseph Marinski and Mrs. Julia Kotcella.

Montgomery Ward Strike Postponed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)— The Retail Clerks International Union agreed today to postpone a strike against 61 Montgomery Ward retail stores. The strike had been set for Thursday.

Union President James O. Suffridge said he acted at the request of Joseph Finnegan, federal mediation chief, who called for reopening the deadlocked negotiations. The next session was set for Tuesday afternoon in Chicago.

The union seeks 10-cent hourly wage increases for about 5,000 employes in retail stores.

Education Plan Would Help Potential 'Brains'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration is readying for Congress an education plan including a proposal for 20,000 scholarships averaging $750 a year to help bright students go to college.

The aim is to assure a college chance for many of the nation's potential "brains" who otherwise would quit school to go to work.

The thorny problem still to be decided before the program goes to Congress is whether to offer the scholarship to all students or chiefly those in the scientific field. As now envisaged the scholarships would range from $500 to $1,000 a year and average $750.

Administration sources said the government hopes to have its new education program in final shape by Christmas.

Secretary Marion B. Folsom of the Health, Education and Welfare epartment has been threshing out the top priority program with the White House, administration and defense officials and the nation's top educators.

The meetings still are going on. The administration is undecided whether to restrict the new aid to stepped-up science education alone or to include other fields of learning.

Educators for the most part want the money spread around. Folsom himself has said he is opposed to an "ill-conceived crash" program in any one field of education at the expense of other essential subjects.

Ex Youngwood Teacher Dead

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Paul A. Mough, 50, former teacher and football coach at Youngwood High School, died Tuesday night at Westmoreland Hospital. He was a resident of Youngwood.

An employe of the Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co., Mough had been active in civic affairs. He was a former school director representing Youngwood in the Hempfield Area Joint School. He also was a past president of the Westmoreland County Coaches Assn.

An alumnus of Greensburg High School, Mough attended Stetson University, Deland, Fla., where he was the captain of the football team.

Funeral services will be held in Youngwood Friday.

NBV St. Vacating Held Up

An anticipated move to vacate a section of Hill St. in North Belle Vernon never materialized at a meeting of borough council last night.

There had been speculation that the street would be vacated to make way for a commercial development.

As a matter of fact, a delegation was on hand to object to the action. Heading the group was councilman-elect Homer Zucconi, who formally presented council with a petition opposing any plans to vacate.

No argument developed, though. Myford Michener, council president, explained that no action will be taken on the matter until next month. He said all interested parties will receive ample notice of the meeting.

No Enthusiasm

By then, three new councilmen will be sworn in. Reportedly, they have expressed no enthusiasm for the proposal.

When the state constructs a cloverleaf highway exchange in North Belle Vernon, a section of Hill St. will be unusable unless filled in. Consequently an investor has asked council to vacate the street, it was learned.

In his remarks to council, Zucconi suggested that the state be requested to fill Hill St. Michener said that would involve infringement on private property because of the large fill required. After a lengthy discussion, council took no action on that matter.

Here are some of the other items covered during the four hour meeting:

Annexation: Councilman Tony Stringhill asked for comment on a proposal that a section of Rostraver Twp. be annexed by the borough. He said many property-holders in the area extending from the borough line to Johnson St. in Pricedale had requested information. Solicitor Edward Morrell replied that the property-holders had to petition the borough with a request for annexation. He added that council was not permitted to entice them with any promises. Morrell said that no legal steps could be taken until a petition with a majority of freeholders (property owners) is presented.

Voting Machines: Councilman Americo Franceschi said he thought it was time the borough requested Westmoreland County to supply voting machines. Only retiring councilman William Rowley filed a mild objection, stating that some voters might find the machines difficult to operate. Council eventually appointed Franceschi and Stringhill to look into the matter further and report at a future meeting.

Fell St.: Council described the total cost of the Fell St. paving from Vernon St. to Blind Lane as $6,000.20. This work was performed by the borough and the cost will be shared equally with abutting property owners. In computing the total cost, council decided PROBLEMS, PROBLEMS, PROBLEMS — Here is the geographic picture of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as its members look to the current Paris meeting for answers to such problems as West Germany's talk of quitting NATO and neutralizing itself, threat of Communists taking over in Indonesia, Tito's renunciation of American arms aid (Yugoslavia might turn to Russia), and doubts about America's striking power in event of aggression. Another problem: If somebody does start something, who decides if and when the NATO trigger is pulled in retaliation?

County Campaign Contributors For November Election Listed

The Monessen Democratic party, which spent $5,006.10 for its successful November general election campaign, received contributions of $3,070 from individuals and $1,940 from the Westmoreland County Democratic party for a total of $5,010, it was revealed today.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who was elected to an unprecedented fourth term, was the largest contributor to the party campaign here with $600, according to expense figures filed with the county Board of Elections before last Thursday's filing deadline.

Contributing $300 each were successful candidates John Molnar and John Harhai, Council; John Spielman, treasurer, and James Tucci, controller.

Two other Councilmen, Democrats John Kotch Jr. and David Canova, although not candidates, contributed $100 each.

The remainder of the individual contributions from "friends" of the candidates ranged from $10 to $100, with the average about $50.

Emil T. Beck and Dr. Joseph M. Dudas Sr., successful Democratic candidates for school director, stated their expenses did not exceed $150 and they received no contributions.

Stieska's Report

John R. Stieska, unsuccessful candidate against Parente, reported he had contributions totaling $1,000. His expenditures amounted to $1,158.

Others candidates for city offices who listed their expenses below $150 and stated they received no contributions were William Snyder and John Learnard, unsuccessful Republican candidates for Council and School Board respectively.

Expenditures and receipts not previously announced for candidates for county offices also have been made public.

In his bid for reelection to a full 10-year term as Common Pleas judge, David H. Weiss, Monessen, spent $6,270 and received an equal amount in contributions.

Robert H. Rial, Greensburg, Republican candidate for judge, spent $5,918.14 and listed total receipts at $853.

Avra N. Pershing, Jr., Greensburg, Republican candidate for judge, listed his total expenditures at $4,436.12 for his campaign and his receipts and contributions totaling $25.

In addition, Edward S. Stiteler, treasurer of the Pershing Campaign Committee, filed an expense account showing total expenditures on behalf of the candidate

A special program has been arranged for the unveiling at 7:30 p. m. Miss Carolyn Sedey, speech instructor at Monesen High School, will narrate the Christmas story as taken from the Bible.

A musical background will be furnished by the 115 member MHS Glee Club.

As the story unfolds, spotlights will pick up the principal figures.

To add realism to the scene, live animals will be used.

Dent Formally Launches His Congress Drive

State Sen. John H. Dent, Jeannette, today formally launched his campaign for U.S. Congress with a promise that, if elected, he "will give the office my full and undivided attention."

Dent was officially slated as the Democratic candidate earlier this week by the party's state committee. He will oppose Republican Herbert Morrison in a special election on Jan. 21 for the right to succeed the late Rep. Augustine B. Kelley.

In his formal announcement, Dent said:

"I am fully aware of the grave problems ahead of all of us: the problems yet to come from automation added to the yet unsolved problems of periodic and chronic unemployment; the continuing fight against human miseries and the expansion of our service in the fields of health and welfare; the highway safety and construction program; the forthright urgency of our re-assessment of our program for higher education; the continuing fight for peace and understanding between the nations of the world; the never-ending search for greater security, both externally and internally."

Dent said he felt his long service in the state Assembly gave him "experience and training so essential in a legislative and deliberative body."

His statement concluded with these words:

"With humility and a full sense of the responsibilities involved, I respectfully ask your support on the 21st of January.

Ike and Dulles Discuss Latest Propaganda Play

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower met with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today to study and possibly draft a rejection of Russia's surprise move for new East-West peace talks.

Officials said Tuesday night's proposal by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin contains "absolutely nothing new" and is merely a propaganda play seeking to torpedo the forthcoming NATO summit conference in Paris.

Past U.S. policy on such Russian proposals has been to "ignore them to death," but officials fear this time that one or more of the Western allies who also received Soviet "peace talk" bids may fall into Bulganin's trap.

As a result, they said, the President and Dulles will seek to draft an answer that would flatly reject the latest Soviet proposal without taking a negative view toward peace in the eyes of the rest of the world.

Meet Again Today

Dulles was to meet this afternoon with Adlai E. Stevenson in a long conference concluding Stevenson's short-lived job as a special adviser on NATO problems. The Democratic leader will work in his State Department office Thursday morning and leave later in the day for Chicago.

Stevenson announced on Dec. 3 after conferring with the President that he would not accompany Eisenhower and Dulles to Paris because he would be "without authority" and would be identified unnecessarily with "decisions I might not always agree with and could not publicly oppose."

Dulles told a news conference Tuesday that his relationships with Stevenson have been "highly satisfactory and very gratifying." He said he and the two-time Democratic presidential candidate "worked together in complete harmony and understanding."

Bulganin's latest "peace" move was contained in a 15-page letter to Eisenhower which was delivered to the White House Tuesday by Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin. The ambassador said it probably would be made public Thursday, possibly later.

American officials immediately sought ways to soften the possibly dangerous impact of the Soviet move — and a flood of others — on the eve of allied meetings in Paris beginning next Monday.

President Eisenhower's attendance at the meeting should help convince U.S. allies their best strategy is to shore up their defense cooperation while steering

Steps on the Gas Instead of Brake

Louis DeRose Jr., 413 Delaware St., Monessen, told police he mistakenly stepped on the gas pedal instead of the brake, resulting in an accident yesterday afternoon.

Police said DeRose was travelling west on Donner Ave., between 5th and 6th St. when his automobile rammed into the rear end of a car operated by Gerald Jodon, Monessen.

There were no injuries, but police described the damage as considerable.

Ike Given Okay To Attend NATO Paris Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower waded today into preparations for next week's heads-of-state Paris parley that has been suddenly invigorated by his ability to attend.

The decision of the 67-year-old President to go despite a mild stroke 16 days ago sparked new hopes at home and abroad that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) summit conference will succeed in producing new unity and an answer to Russia's missile-scientific threat.

The President, given a medical go-ahead Tuesday to make the trip, scheduled a morning conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. They were expected to discuss U.S. proposals to be presented at the meeting.

The team of six doctors pronounced the President in "excellent" physical condition in a White House announcement late Tuesday. The announcement said he was sufficiently recovered from the Nov. 25 cerebral attack to go to Paris.

Western European leaders reacted to the news with a sigh of relief. Reaction also was favorable from two Congressional delegates to the NATO parliamentary conference.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said "the President is a symbol of mankind's desire for peace. His attendance...will assure constructive action in strengthening NATO's defenses."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said "I hope that he (Eisenhower) will conserve his strength. But his presence there will be very important."

Plane Circles; Air Hostesses Deliver Baby

SHANNON, Ireland (UP) — An American airliner circled the Shannon Airport early today while its two hostesses delivered a baby on radioed instructions from the ground.

The baby, a seven pound boy, was born to Mrs. Elizabeth Raics, a Hungarian refugee who had not informed airline officials the birth was expected almost immediately.

The 22-year-old mother was one of 75 refugees on their way to New York from Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Raics began labor three hours out from Shannon. Pilot Ted Clarke brought the plane back to the airport but it was fogbound and closed to traffic.

Clarke circled the big skymaster over the airport for more than an hour while Airport Medical Officer Dr. William Flynn radioed instructions.

Shortly after 1:15 a.m. Clarke spotted a break in the fog and landed.

"We just got down in time," Clarke said. "As the last passenger left I heard the cry of a baby."

Group to Reorganize

The Monessen Redevelopment Authority will hold its annual reorganization meeting tonight at 9:15 o'clock in the City Building.

Violence Erupts in N. Y. Subway Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—New York City, heavily crippled by a three-day-old subway strike, faced a new transport crisis today in the threatened breakdown of city bus operations.

The first incident of underground violence was reported in Brooklyn early today. A two-foot length of pipe was hurled at the motormen's cab of a BMT train as it passed through an open cut on the Canarsie line, transit police reported. The pipe broke a window, missed the motorman and struck a passenger on the elbow. He refused medical treatment.

A transit Authority spokesman said 600 bus maintenance workers were off the job in sympathy with 2,600 striking subway motormen.

There was no sign of a break, meanwhile, in the strike begun Monday morning by the small Motormen's Benevolent Association to protest its domination by the giant Transport Workers Union. Six other small subway unions, one of which also includes the bus maintenance workers, have joined the walkout.

The 50 to 60 per cent shutdown

New Buildings Must Conform, Council Says

Monessen City Council this morning adopted an ordinance which "temporarily" prohibits the construction of new buildings if their specifications do not conform with the master plan now being drafted for the City by the Monessen Planning Commission.

City Solicitor Frank P. Ezerski Jr. described the ordinance as "stop-gap" legislation to prevent hurried construction not in conformity with the proposed housing code.

The "temporary" legislation will be in effect for a period of 120 days, beginning today. It will become null and void if the proposed housing code is not approved by City Council.

The ordinance passed today prohibits the issuance of building permits for any construction not in accordance with the zoning and housing proposals already made public by the Planning Commission.

With the passage of ordinance today, Council plans to prevent new construction which would be illegal once, and if, the zoning ordinance is adopted.

In other business during this morning's brief session, Council reappointed Charles Throop to a five-year term on the Monessen Redevelopment Authority and Stephen Pfeister to another term on the Recreation Board.

A resolution was passed calling for the installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Marion Ave. and Grand Blvd. The cost is expected to be approximately $3,500.

Councilman John Kotch Jr. said he was informed by Hilltop Bus Lines that it discontinued a midnight trip from 12th St. gate of the local Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant to

Cold Wave in Area; Low of 10 Is Forecast

The bitterest cold wave of the season moved into the district today.

The weather bureau predicted that the mercury will reach as low as 10 degrees tonight.

At 11 a.m., a spokesman at U.S. Lock No. 4, Monessen, said the temperature was 20 degrees, a drop of 25 degrees since yesterday afternoon.

According to the weather bureau, the cold snap is actually part of the low pressure system which brought rain and warmer temperatures last week. That low pressure area is now moving northwest, pulling behind it cold air over the entire state.

Snow Forecast

Considerable cloudiness and snow flurries are expected throughout the state today. Some snow accumulation is expected in areas near Lake Erie, but no sizeable snowfall is forecast for the district.

Tonight will be clear and cold, according to the weather forecast.

A slight snow early today glazed district highways and made driving hazardous in some spots. State Police cautioned motorists to be careful, stating that all roads are slippery in spots.

North winds between 25 to 35 miles an hour will make today seem even colder. The winds are supposed to diminish by tonight.

Tomorrow will be clearer but not warmer. The high tomorrow will range between 10 to 20 degrees.

The high winds fanned a fire out of control at Nicollet, Minn., Tuesday night, destroying three buildings, and another fire destroyed the four-building business district of Wellsburg, N.D.

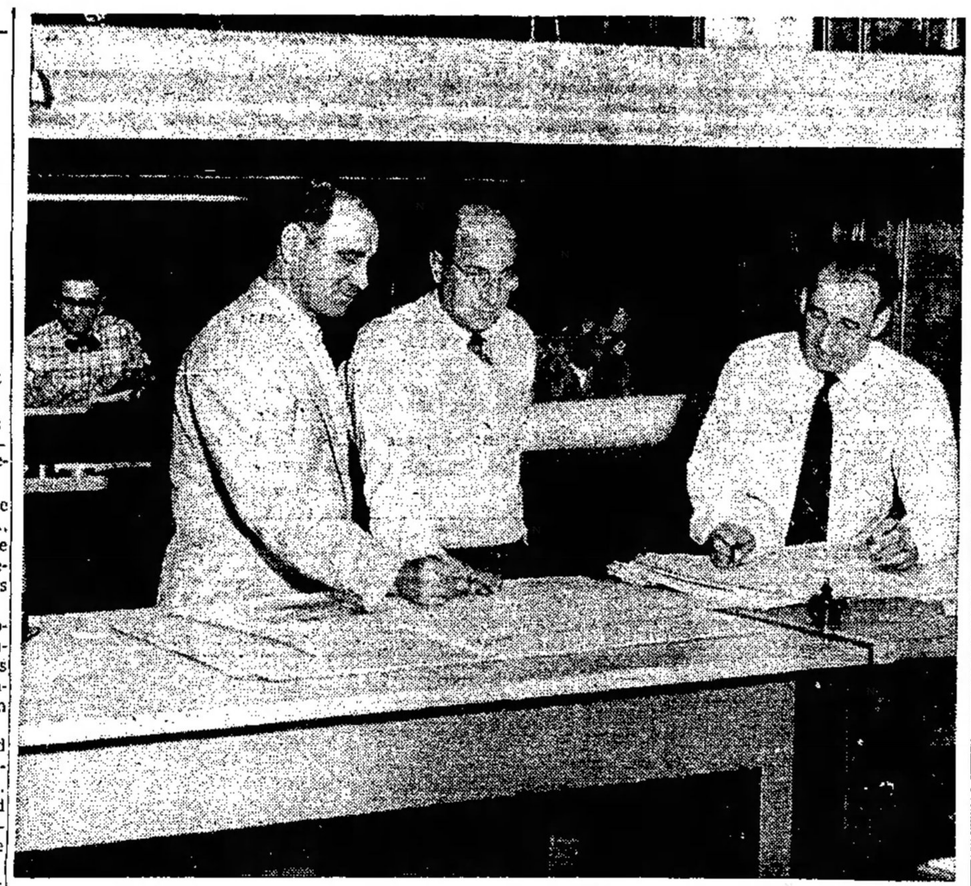
Snow flurries, some of them locally heavy, accompanied the wintry weather from the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley into Pennsylvania, New York state and northern New England.

About one inch of snow covered the ground as far south as Cincinnati, Ohio, and Flat Top, W. Va. A combination of rain and freezing rain made driving hazardous during the night along the north Atlantic Coastal area.

Forecasters said the cold air is expected to engulf most of the nation today from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

A warming trend along the Gulf Coast is expected to be short-lived as the cold air advances to the Gulf today and east to the Atlantic Coast.

Snow flurries are expected to continue from the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley east to the Atlantic and south into the mountains of North Carolina.



ENGINEERING FIRM IN NEW QUARTERS — Westmoreland Engineering Co., of Monessen and Greensburg, has moved into new and larger quarters at 455 Donner Ave. It formerly had an office at 11 Schoonmaker Ave. Shown at one of the many drafting tables are Gerald Vitale and Frank Sciullo, co-owners, and George Coneybear, designer.

Park Plan because of the lack of passengers.

Council last month was asked to investigate the dropping of the trip by millworkers living in the Park Plan.

The bus line said the trip "just didn't pay because would-be passengers preferred to catch rides in cars of fellow workers and just used the bus as a last resort."

Westmoreland County Housing Authority sent a letter requesting the City take over the maintenance of streets and sidewalks in the housing project in Park Manor.

Kotch said the City already is "taking care of the lights and giving rubbish service in the area. What does the Housing Authority give us?" he asked.

He said that when the Authority decided to build the project the City "was promised some reimbursement for the loss of taxes in the area. We haven't received a cent from them."

Council then instructed City Clerk Francis Crum to invite Joseph Sheridan, Greensburg, Westmoreland County Housing Authority director, to meet with Council and discuss the matter.

The City plans to erect a fence along portions of the downtown parking plaza to prevent children from jumping from the plaza onto porches and roofs of properties along side. Council, at the same time, called for stricter policing of the plaza, stating it wants to stop children from using the plaza as a "playground."

The Monessen Citizens Committee for Water Fluoridation asked Council what steps it has taken toward naming a committee to investigate the fluoridation issue. Council took no action on the question.

Acting City Engineer Richard Belan was instructed to investigate requests from property owners near Court Place in Montrayer Plan for a paved street.

Councilman David Canova presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who was in Harrisburg. Also present was Councilman David Victo. Councilman John Molnar was unable to attend.

Council set Dec. 27 as its next meeting date.

In other expense accounts reported, Democrat Leo Sukala of Arnold, re-elected prothonotary, spent a total of $3,625.14. Sukala's contributions received totaled $1,125.

Wayne R. Donahue of New Kensington, Republican candidate for district attorney, reported he received $65 in contributions and spent $610.91.

James W. Cox, Republican candidate for prothonotary, spent $869.53 in his campaign but received no contributions.

The expense account of the late Willis E. Topper, Greensburg, Republican candidate for judge of the common pleas court, showed he spent $3,056.75 during his campaign. Topper's executor said he has no knowledge of any contributions he might have received. Mr. Topper died approximately a week after the election.

Robert L. Kunkle of Greensburg, Republican candidate for clerk of courts; Dora M. Dunn of Greensburg, Democratic candidate for jury commissioner, and Joseph R. Hunter of Latrobe, Republican candidate for coroner, all stated their expenses did not exceed $150 and they received no clear of any talks with the Russians now, officials believe.

But the Soviet move puts Eisenhower on the spot. He is faced with the problem of dodging Soviet proposals for a meeting without appearing to flatly reject the idea.

Delivery of the letter at this time made officials suspicious. They noted Bulganin also sent a letter to West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warning against any allied plan to spot atomic weapons in West Germany. Bulganin also sent a letter to Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru saying Russia would halt all nuclear weapons tests as of Jan. 1, 1958, if the United States and Britain would do likewise.

to charge $1.50 per hour for the use of the borough truck. This figure will be used in compiling future expenses.

Curfew: Council discussed at length a proposed curfew. However no action was taken after Burgess Leroy Jones suggested that the matter be studied thoroughly and reconsidered at the next meeting.

Water Co.: John Gaskill, representing the Municipal Authority of the Borough of Belle Vernon, assured council that a street opening on Baltimore St. will be closed according to borough specifications in the spring. Gaskill also asked council to notify the Authority in advance on street work. He cited an instance in which the Authority was required to change its lines three times because of alterations in the street grade. "The job cost us twice as much as it should have," Gaskill said. "With all costs rising, we have no choice but to pass these added expenses on to our consumers." Council asked Borough Engineer Andrew McDonald to work closely with the Authority.

In other business, Council approved the transfer of $4700 in budget accounts; passed a resolution exonerating the borough tax collector for tax money collected in 1956; gave the North Belle Vernon firemen written permission to install holiday street lighting; approved an extra police woman for temporary duty in order to give Police Chief Ed Anthony more time for a special assignment; and okayed the installation of two signs by the Knights of Columbus.

Watreas Held for Phony Check Charge

MASONTOWN, Pa. (UP)— Joseph Watreas, 29, who was cleared on Monday of a murder charge in the slaying of an elderly grocer, has been held for grand jury action on a phony check charge.

Watreas pleaded guilty Tuesday night before Justice of the Peace Herbert E. Steinman to passing a worthless $125 check at a grocery last summer. He was ordered held for the March grand jury.

Filipino Girl Talks By Phone with Rival

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UP)—A Filipino girl, charged with slaying her Air Force husband because he wanted a divorce to marry an English girl, spoke with her rival by transatlantic telephone Tuesday.

Mrs. Lydia Dean, 21, mother of a three-year-old girl, received the call at the Venango County jail where she is being held in the fatal shooting of her husband, T-Sgt. Ronald Dean, 25, last Saturday.

Brenda Saville Gray, of Braintree, Essex, England, spoke with Lydia for five or six minutes. What they said was not revealed.

It was the second transoceanic telephone call of the day to Lydia. Earlier, her mother, Mrs. Eugenia Ciubal Deen (correct), of Manila, The Philippines, called her daughter and told her she would arrive in the United States by plane "as soon as possible."

Mrs. Deen said in Manila she was shocked at the news of the slaying. She said Dean and her daughter "seemed very much in love" and she had never heard of them having any martial troubles.

Dean had returned to the United States recently after a 17-months tour of duty in England, where he met Miss Gray. He and his family had been visiting at the home of his parents in nearby Pleasantville, Pa., pending his departure for his new post at Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina.

Mrs. Dean told state police she "just went out of my mind" and shot her husband with an old 45-70 caliber rifle as he slept on a living room couch in his parents' home.

The Venango County Bar Association promised full legal assistance to Mrs. Dean, who waived preliminary hearing and will face a grand jury next Jan. 27.

Funeral services for her husband were held Tuesday.

Budget Surplus Below Estimates

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Treasury said in a final report Tuesday the federal budget surplus for fiscal 1957 was nearly 49 million dollars less than previously estimated.

The excess of revenue over expenditures from July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957, was $1,595,571,550. This is earmarked for reduction of the national debt. Last July 19 the Treasury estimated the surplus at $1,644,549,367.

of subway service snarled the city in a fantastic traffic jam reaching miles into the commuting suburbs. Normal commerce has been crippled by the absence of an estimated 10 per cent of the city business force. A United Press survey showed department store losses of more than two million dollars a day in the Christmas shopping week which should have been one of the year's biggest.

The motormen's acting strike leader, Secretary-Treasurer Frank Zelano, was ordered to appear in state supreme court today to show cause why he should not be jailed for contempt of court in continuing the strike in face of a court injunction.

The union's president, Theodore Loos, and three other officials were jailed one hour before the strike began on suspended 10-day contempt sentences given them as a result of a strike threat a year ago.

Legion to Observe Christmas

Plans for a Christmas stag party and kiddies' treat were announced at the regular meeting of Thomas McKee Post 28, American Legion last night at the Legion Home.

Angelo Giannini, post commander, heard reports from both committee chairmen.

John Simkanich, chairman for the stag party, reported that this year's affair will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. The serving of a buffet style luncheon consisting of roast turkey, halupke and other dishes has been arranged by the Ladies Auxiliary. Various prizes will be awarded.

George Chesmar, treat chairman, announced that treats will be distributed on Sunday, Dec. 22 from 2 till 6 p. m. Treat tickets may be picked up at the Legion Club until Saturday, Dec. 21. All children must be accompanied by an adult and the treat will be given to children of members in good standing. Chesmar said that all members have been notified by post card of these affairs.

Membership Report

The membership teams reported an increase in membership of 70 members since the last meeting. Dr. G. L. Trilli and his team are leading First Vice Commander Boris Pishko's team by 15 members. Post membership now stands at 250 with three weeks remaining in the membership drive.

Giannini gave a report on the executive committee meeting which was held Dec. 2. Members present along with Giannini were Pishko, John A. Snyder, William Pavlovich, C. R. Murphy and Dr. Trilli.

Elected at this meeting were officers for the coming year. They are: Andy Valko, president; John Simkanich, vice president, William Pavlovich, secretary and George Chesmar, treasurer.

It was decided that some repairs will be made to the Legion Building. It was reported that the club rooms have been painted and decorated in a Christmas motif for the coming events.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Post, which would fall on Christmas Eve, has been postponed. Meetings will be held in January on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

Henry Furio was reported a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and Michael Zubko and Perry Cozza are patients in Oakland Veterans Administration Hospital.

Kiwanis Club's Christmas Party

The Monessen Kiwanis Club entertained children at its annual Christmas party held last night in Slovak Home.

Charles Penwick, president, opened the meeting and in turn presented Edward Stern, chairman. James Oelschlager was master of ceremonies.

Entertainment was presented by The Acappella Trio, accordion selections by Joseph Amedelo and readings and pantomine by Mrs. Gertrude Sersen.

The children "met" Santa Claus and were presented gifts.

Donora Woman At Conference

Mrs. Phillip Davis, Donora, represented the Monongahela Valley Women's Council at a B'nai B'rith Vocational Service Conference Seminar on Sunday in Philadelphia.

The Conference was an all-day affair for council chairmen, vice-chairmen and other officals.

Dr. Morris M. Rubin, executive director of the B'nai B'rith Vocational Service of Philadelphia, was in charge of the seminar which included a discussion of the purpose of vocational services.

Also considered were the responsibilities of vocational service chairmen and what B'nai B'rith has to offer its youth and adults.

Former Panama President Freed

PANAMA (UP)—Former President Juan Ramon Guizado, who was serving a six-year, eight month prison sentence for complicity in the assassination of his predecessor, Jose Remon, was freed Tuesday.

Guizado's release was ordered by the Panamanian supreme court. Guizao has served two years and nine months of the sentence given him by the National Assembly in March 1955.

Wills and Inheritance Laws Rotary Feature

A discussion of the laws pertaining to wills and inheritances featured the program of the regular meeting of the Monessen Rotary Club at Johnson's yesterday.

The speaker was Attorney Daniel Myshin, a member of the club and a practicing lawyer here.

He explained the present laws concerning the distribution of estates when the deceased dies without a will and strongly urged that individuals should avoid this by preparing wills.

Although anyone can prepare a valid will, Myshin suggested that the safest procedure to avoid legal difficulties is to consult an attorney, even though the estate is small.

The Rotarians were guests of the management of Johnson's for a turkey dinner served before the speaking program.

Visitors at the meeting included Robert Arthurs, Robert Hoehl and Joseph Bielski, all of Charlerol; Thomas Malpass of Belle Vernon; Robert E. Pettigrew of Greensburg; John R. Riley and Glenn L. Conley, both of Pittsburgh; and Russell Bailey of Orange, Va.

Next Tuesday the club members will entertain their children or other young guests for a Christmas party. The speaker will be the Rev. Ted V. Voorhees, former Monessen minister who is now serving as chaplain at Rockview State Penetentiary.

Brotherhood Plans Christmas Project

St. Luke's Brotherhood members met Monday evening in the parlors of St. Luke's Evangelical church on Reed Ave., with Charles Palomaki, president, in charge. Pastor Mathias Joensuu led the devotions.

During the course of the business meeting it was announced the Brotherhood will sponsor a rye bread bake sale ("reikkaleipa") on Wednesday, Dec. 18. Orders for this specialty may be placed with any member of the brotherhood before Dec. 16.

CSTC Program Tonight at 8:15

Fayette Planning Progress Reported

The Fayette County Planning and Zoning Commission has announced current progress on master plans for the county and also Brownsville and Connellsville.

Edward Heiselberg, executive director, said yesterday work on the Connellsville plan is at the midway point. Base maps are being prepared for the Brownsville plan.

The commission is continuing its work on completing the major street plan for the county-wide master program, Heiselberg said.

County Planners Hear Reports; John Kossar Attends First Meeting

Monessen's new member of the Westmoreland County Planning Commission, John Kossar, sat in on his first meeting Monday afternoon in Greensburg.

Continued plans to place subdivision of land regulations into effect in the very near future, highlighted the session conducted by Avra N. Pershing, Jr., chairman for the nine-man board.

Secretary Robert P. DeLotto gave a detailed report on progress made in adopting these regulations. The board recommended that all comments and suggestions made by builders, real estate leaders, attorneys and planning technicians be dovetailed into a final report to be presented at the next month's meeting prior to the final drafting of a proposed resolution to be presented to the county commissioners.

Secretary DeLotto will work closely with Heinz Fenichel, director of the Central Westmoreland Regional Planning Association, in adopting these final rules. At the same time the Commission plans a full-scale public meeting on the rules before they are adopted, and plans to look into administration facets of adopting these regulations.

Secretary DeLotto reported that local planning has been on the upswing since the creation of the County Planning Commission last February. He reported that Mt. Pleasant is moving ahead with sub-division regulations and Irwin borough and Franklin township have recently named planning boards.

County Engineer Ben Hebrank gave a full report on a proposed county map, but other bids and specifications will be investigated before any recommendations are made to the county commissioners.

Under new business, the board advised Secretary DeLotto to complete its annual report for the commissioners and to outline budget needs for the 1958 fiscal year. The commissioners also voted to join the American Society of Planning Officials, and talked of producing advisory bulletins and other data for the benefit of the members.

Atty. Pershing cited the work of Heinz Fenichel and the cooperation of the CWRPC. He said, "the time and effort given by Mr. Fenichel to our commission is deeply appreciated. We hope that we will be able to compensate the CWRPC in some manner next year for this excellent consultant service."

Attending the meeting were Pershing, DeLotto, Hebrank, C. W. Cline, Paul Euwer, Albert Chenet, and Kossar.

At the January meeting the members will hold the annual election of officers.

A Sick Party

WHAT'S wrong with the Republican party in Westmoreland County was well illustrated again last Friday evening in Greensburg when the party's county committee nominated Herbert O. Morrison as its candidate for Congress.

There are 569 members of this committee. But only 142—about one-fourth—were present and voting. Where were the rest?

These people are elected party officials. They run for these offices, which means that they want them. In many cases they accept money from the party treasury elections, which means that they have a financial as well as an official responsibility.

Yet when there is a duty to perform—and in this case a very important and solemn duty—they can't be bothered.

We realize that Republican workers in Westmoreland County do not have much incentive at the present time. Their party is on the short end of a two-to-one division.

But the only way this is ever going to be changed, we're convinced, is through the willingness of people who call themselves Republicans to stand up and be counted, to work for what they believe and to demand effective leadership at both the local and county levels.

The Republican voters will elect a new county committee at the May primary. We hope they will clean house and elect people who are willing to serve and work.

Our concern in this matter is not for the GOP as such. We just happen to believe that no community can have the best possible government under a one-party system. That's what we have in Westmoreland County now, and that's what we'll continue to have until the Republican voters decide to put their party back in business.

Stop the Weeping

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon had some good advice for the country the other day, we thought, when he suggested that we all step back from the "weeping walls", appreciate our national strengths along with the evident weaknesses and begin to act more in the tradition of free and courageous people.

This, of course, is an expression of the "chins-up" reaction which President Eisenhower was trying to develop before his most recent illness. And it has value only if used judiciously.

But there has been much too much wailing and weeping since the Russians launched the Sputniks and especially since the failure of our own Vanguard satellite launching last week. And it is neither justified nor becoming to us.

As a vigorous people always will, we are asking questions of each other. We are checking on our government. We are shaking off the lethargy which certainly has afflicted some phases of our national life. We are entering a period—we hope—of renewed dedication to the ideals that have made us a great nation and for which we have always been ready to sacrifice.

But in this process we have a right to resent those who are ready to sell America short, who say we are already defeated and who can think of nothing better to do than weep for what they think is lost.

School Problems

THE ROSTRAVER Township school directors entertained some constituents at their meeting the other evening. The visitors were present to discuss a phase of the Rostraver education program which they do not feel is being properly handled.

School boards in this area are not accustomed to such visits from citizens. Unless some controversial matter is being considered, it is not often that many folks take this means of expressing active interest in school affairs. And this lack of public concern — or at least the outward evidence of it — may well be one of the factors in the educational lag which seems now to be impressing itself upon many people.

We're not sure, however, that the Rostraver group is worried about the right thing. It thinks the school board should see to it that the high school football team wins more games. The suggested remedy seems to be to fire the coach.

We're waiting for the day when delegations of citizens wait on school boards to discuss the English instruction, to demand better performance in the physics laboratory or to insist that more pupils study Latin.

When that happens we'll start to take more seriously this supposed public interest in improved education.

Merry-Go-Round—

Nixon, Adams In Struggle For Power

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The biggest backstage story in Washington today is the struggle for power between Vice President Nixon, the man who is almost certain to end up in the White House, and Assistant President Sherman Adams, the man who has hitherto run the White House. It involves the future of our missile program, the future of the presidency, and the future of the United States.

Mr. Pearson

In the middle is Dwight D. Eisenhower. In the opposite wings on Adams's side are astute Jim Hagerty and the White House staff; on Nixon's side, powerful Republican leaders including Attorney General Rogers and to some extent Secretary of State Dulles.

No harsh words are being exchanged. Both sides are discreet and circumspect. Vice President Nixon is careful not to appear to be trying to step into Eisenhower's shoes. Nonetheless, the battle is very real and bitterness crops out in unguarded moments.

Here are the details of the struggle.

Long before Sputnik, Vice President Nixon was battling backstage to meet the Soviet challenge, and to heck with the cost. He knew, as did everyone else in the administration, despite the strict secrecy ban on information to the public, that the Soviet was forging far ahead in missiles, satellites, and almost every modern weapon.

Nixon Blocks Adams

His opponents were Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Defense Wilson, and Adams. It was Humphrey and Adams who, two years before, after Ike's heart attack in Denver, had blocked Nixon's quiet move to assume more authority. They let him preside at cabinet meetings and National Security Council meeting, but that was all.

Humphrey and Wilson, however, have now dropped out of the cabinet. Sherman Adams remains — efficient, tight-lipped, devoted to Eisenhower, determined to block Vice President Nixon from assuming too much authority, and still anxious to balance the budget.

On the day the President suffered his minor stroke, Nixon and Attorney General Rogers moved into the White House. Rogers is the able young man at whose home Nixon conefred most of the night immediately after Ike suffered his heart attack. This time they remained at the White House all day. Nothing was said. There were no arguments, no hards words. But Nixon politely made sure that he would be on deck in case of serious development.

Simultaneously, Secretary Dulles lined up on his side by sending unoffical word to Paris that Nixon would probably substitute for Eisenhower at the NATO meeting.

Also simultaneously, Nixon let it be known that he, not Adams, would preside at the White House meeting of congressional leaders if the President was not able to attend.

New Hampshire Feud Flares

While this was going on, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, one of the most powerful Republicans on Capitol Hill, publicly called for Nixon to take over as acting president. Bridges is a friend of Nixon's. He is not a friend of Adam's. Both once served as governor of New Hampshire, both are powers in New England politics, and in Washington. But neither likes the other.

Bridges even sent word to the White House that he would stay away from the meeting of congressional leaders unless Nixon, not Sherman Adams, presided. It was intimated that he also spoke for Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas and the Democrats.

Significantly, when the congressional leaders met at the White House, Sherman Adams was not present. Usually he sits in the front row, but not this time. Fortunately the President had recovered sufficiently to preside part of the time.

Before this, however, and while Eisenhower was still in his bedroom, Jim Hagerty had come charging back from Paris. Hagerty has never cared much for Nixon, and it was apparent, following his return, that Jim's sentiments had not changed.

It's a Fact—

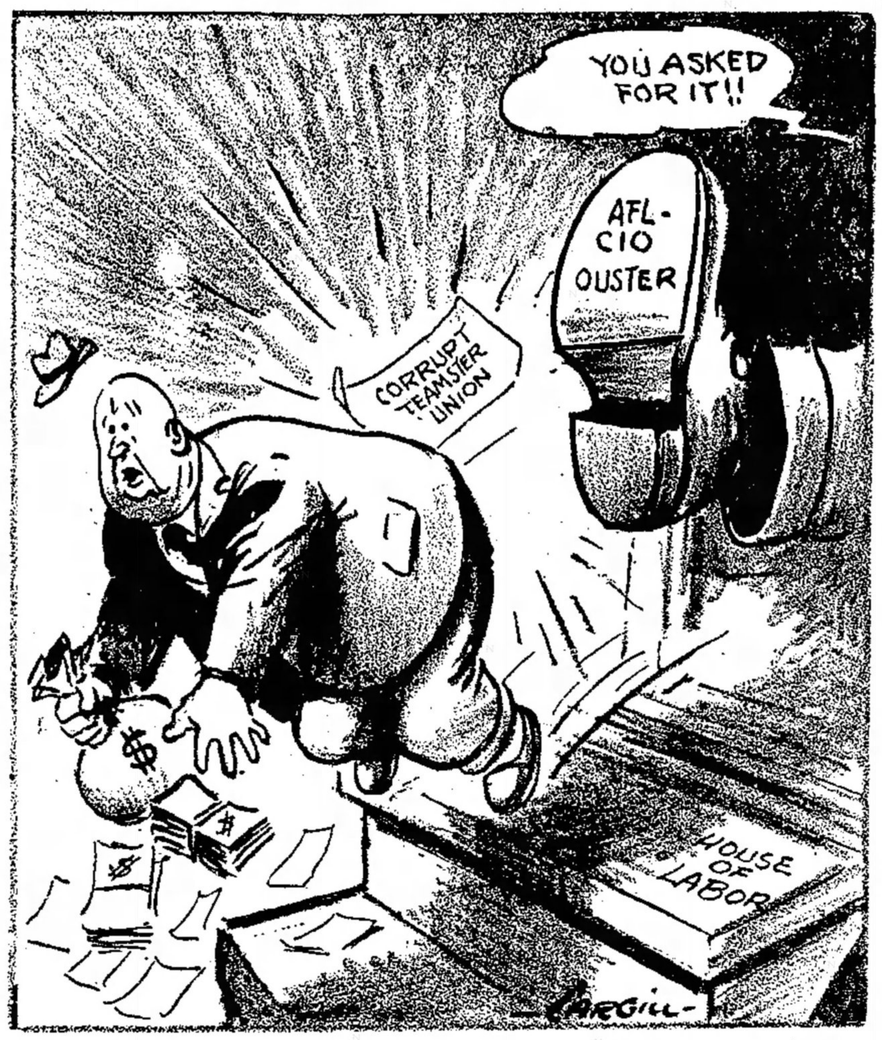
George Washington is believed to have been the first to breed a mule in the United States.

The discovery of champagne is usually credited to Dom Perignon, cellar master of the Abbey of Hautvilliers in France from 1670 to 1715.

The state of Idaho's name comes from Indian words meaning "light on the mountains."

The most powerful lighthouse in the United States is the one at Hillsboro Inlet, Fla. It has a candlepower of five and one half million.

Just What Was Needed for Christmas!



From Washington—

Stevenson Should Go to Paris

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The reasons Adlai Stevenson gives for not serving as an adviser to President Eisenhower at the NATO conference do not seem very compelling to those whose main purpose is to get on with the job. Possibly the decision is not final.

Mr. Drummond

The reasons he has given are:

— That he would be "without authority."

— That he might get identified with some Administration plans he did not agree with, and thus "could not publicly oppose" them.

— That he would not wish "to inhibit or mislead his friends here and abroad."

It seems clear that Mr. Stevenson has accepted, for the present at least, the advice his Democratic political associates have been pressing upon him; namely, that he was getting into a trap which would imprison the Democratic Party and undermine his own influence after the NATO meeting.

Door Not Closed

What I want to report is that a very strong case can be made for exactly the opposite decision and that Mr. Stevenson himself does not consider that the door has been finally closed on the possibility of his going to Paris.

How much real substance is there in the argument that Mr. Stevenson would be "without authority" at Paris? Obviously the final decisions on foreign policy can only be made in one place — the Presidency — where the Constitution puts them. But Mr. Stevenson could exert large and constructive influence not only on the views of the United States delegation but upon the thinking of the other NATO countries with whom he is on the most cordial terms. I believe it is natural for Mr. Stevenson to want to do this if he were not being pulled the other way by the more partisan councilors.

There is ample precedent. Mr. Stevenson would have just as much authority — and more influence — than the numerous leading Republicans who served President Truman in similar capacities and the numerous leading Democrats who have already served President Eisenhower.

The members of the American delegation to the United Nations are "without authority;" that is, U. S. policy is determined by the President and the State Department. But this has not prevented Sen. Green, former Gov. James Byrnes, Sen. Fulbright, Rep. Brookes Hayes, Sen. Pastore, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and others from serving usefully. And they didn't find that their time, talents or influence were wasted.

Such Republicans as Warren Austin, John S. Cooper, Henry Cabot Lodge and John Foster Dulles served President Truman at the United Nations, and Adlai Stevenson would be no more "without authority" at NATO than they were at the U. N.

When he served as special assistant to Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Mr. Dulles was "without authority" to negotiate a Japanese peace treaty any different than Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson wanted. But he exerted real influence on the shape of that treaty even as Mr. Stevenson would exert real influence on the shape of events at Paris — if he wanted to do so.

Could Oppose Later

What about the argument that Mr. Stevenson "could not publicly oppose" the U. S. policies at NATO with which he might disagree. He couldn't oppose them openly at Paris, but he could after the meeting. At Paris he could be a strong advocate among all the delegations for doing more and I am convinced that his willingness to serve at Paris would give him a much more authoritative voice with the whole nation when he returned.

What has Mr. Stevenson been saying to the country pre-Sputnik and post-Sputnik? He has been saying that it is later than we think, that the Soviet challenge is greater than we think, and that the peril is far worse than we think. He has sought in every way to create the needed mood of terrible urgency.

Words Empty

To many people his unwillingness to serve in Paris empties these words of all meaning.

And would his serving at Paris "inhibit his friends," as he puts it? It seems to me that his friends are "inhibiting" Mr. Stevenson, not Mr. Stevenson "inhibiting" his friends.

It would seem evident to me that the President's invitation should be more formal and more explicit, but this is hardly the time to stumble — or quibble — over protocol.

The Woman's View—

Next Fashion: Muu-muu

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Well, men, you thought the chemise robbed us females of curves. Wait'll you see us in a muu-muu!

It's even baggier, but that doesn't slow its progress into our wardrobes.

I happily report that so far, unlike the chemise or sack, the muu-muu isn't for street wear. Only for our leisure hours. But give this comfortable garb time.

By way of explanation, the muu-muu is a native of Hawaii, is ankle or floor length, cut full and completely unfitted except at the yoke.

Theories On Muu-Muu

There are various theories on how the muu-muu migrated from native garb in the islands to at-home fashion on the mainland.

Gloria Buchner, fashion coordinator for Alfred Shaheen, a Honolulu manufacturer, said this firm has been featuring muu-muus for six years at least. But it suddenly caught on after a promotion by a California store.

Shaheen's muu-muus all are made in Hawaii and shipped to domestic stores. There are muu-muus for the patio, the pool, the dormitory, and for formal at-home occasions. And Shaheen features a "mamma muu-muu—for those expecting."

Mrs. Shirley Konheim, boss of a New York firm which specializes in sub-teen wear, found herself in the muu-muu business because of daughter Barbara, a coed at Western College, Oxford, Ohio.

Barbara was one of 16 coeds who last summer made a college-sponsored tour of the Far East. En route home, the group stopped off in Honolulu, where Barbara bought a couple of muu-muus.

"She got off the plane at Idlewild in one of the things," her mother said, "and I was mortified. My daughter traveling in something like that!

Comfortable and Versatile

"But after I watched the dress in motion around home, I realized how wonderfully comfortable and versatile it is."

Wasn't long until Mrs. Konheim was making the garments for Barbara's friends at Western, and then for coeds across the nation. She has given her garments the trade name, "moo-moo".

Shaheen features more than 100 prints in the island-made muu-muus. Mrs. Konheim, who uses U. S.-made fabrics, has introduced bold plaids, zodiac prints and ivy league stripes.

She doubts if the muu - muu ever will show much variation, as have the sack silhouettes.

The Cynic's Corner—

Behind The News—

U. S. Reaffirms Policy Of Aid to Marshal Tito

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The United States apparently has completed another of its many "re-examinations of policy" toward President Tito of Yugoslavia.

As the result, it is expected that American aid to Yugoslavia will be continued on the ground that Tito is a political asset to this country in the cold war despite the fact that he is a Communist.

Mr. McCann

This latest "re-examination" was undertaken because of several developments which caused the policy makers in Washington to feel that Tito was getting too friendly with Soviet Russia.

The developments included Tito's recognition of the East German Communist puppet regime as a sovereign government and several votes in support of Russia in the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Ambassador Visits Tito'

United States Ambassador James W. Riddleberger visited Tito Friday at Brioni Island on the Adriatic Sea.

Riddleberger explained the reasons for Washington's misgivings.

In reply, Tito assured Riddleberger that he intended to keep the independence of Russian domination which he won in 1948 at the risk of his career and even of his life.

There hardly seems to be any ground for surprise at Tito's answer.

Two things about Tito and his policies seem to be pretty clear to anybody who reads the newspapers.

1. He has no intention of resuming the position he held in the Communist world before he rebelled at Soviet domination nine years ago.

2. He is a Communist. He has been a Communist since his youth.

It is necessary for any western government, in its relations with Yugoslavia, to decide whether Tito's independence of Russian domination outweighs the fact that he is a Communist.

Tito Considered Asset

The United States seems to have decided once more, as it has done so many times in the past, that Tito is an asset to the West.

Tito's recognition of East Germany was a blunder. West Germany had threatened to break relations with any country that recognized the puppet regime. Tito thought he could get away with it and was shocked when West Germany carried out its threat. As regards support of Russian policies in the U.N., Tito is a Communist for one thing. For another, if he antagonizes Russia too greatly, he will find himself in another fight with the Kremlin.

There was one new development in the latest American re-examination.

Tito is said to have told Ambassador Riddleberger that he was getting tired of being re-examined so often.

Dispatches from Belgrade say that Tito told Riddleberger that the re-examinations made the United States undependable as a source of weapons and that he would seek them elsewhere in future.

This caused some surprise. Tito has been getting very little military aid for some time.

The first reaction to the report was that Tito might be threatening to seek arms from Russia. He might do that, of course. But later reports said he might seek them from other countries, including Great Britain, France and Sweden.

In any event, American economic aid to Yugoslavia is to continue.

The Lighter Side—

Bartenders Should Be Trained Sociologists

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—When a man has troubles, he sometimes unloads them, according to reliable reports, on the nearest bartender.

When a woman has troubles, she often dumps them, sociologists state, into the nearest department store — and emerges wearing a new dress and feeling much better.

When a department store has troubles, it holds a mammoth sale.

Who Tends to the Bartender?

But when a bartender has troubles, where can he turn, to whom can he pour out his agony? No one. He just has to—if you will permit me to use the word—bottle up his woes inside himself, flick away an incipient tear, and smile through the cigarette haze.

Now, in addition to having to endure his own sorrow in silence, this great man is being saddled with a new burden. He is being enjoined to ladle out advice, words of social wisdom, as well as drinks. After listening, he's supposed to talk back.

Leo Perlis, director of community activities for the AFL-CIO, is quoted as saying his department will begin soon a nationwide program training bartenders in the field of social work.

"Bartenders," he says, "see more people with personal problems than social workers do."

Granted. At least, they see more talkative people with personal problems. But Perlis continues:

"Instead of just listening to the customer with a problem, these trained bartenders will be able to refer them to the proper community agency."

Customer Shuns Advice

There is one factor in this devilishly cute scheme that Perlis is overlooking — the customer. Does he want advice? I think not. He will rebel at advice, however nicely proffered. What he wants is to talk out his woes, and not be told what to do about them.

For, as the Wall Street Journal points out in a thoughtful editorial: "advice from the bartender actually is the last thing in the world a man wants. He knows very well that he will get all he needs on all his problems just as soon as he gets home."

No, it is not the customer who needs to be helped. He's helping himself. It's the bartender who needs help. And what he needs, specifically, is someone who will shut up and listen.

Right here and now, a movement is being launched to educate customers to pay attention to bartenders and encourage them to spill their grief on sympathetic ears.

Quiet, now, and let 'em talk. And here's a toast to them — those brave, understanding, friendly, sympathetic, humane, warm - hearted beings with sawdust in their toes, blear in their eyes, heaven in their souls, and solace in their product.

Recent ratings released by Roger B. Saylor of Penn State University, have Monessen far down the line of WPIAL Class AA schools but a closer check reveals that one Monessen victory has been overlooked which would surely have jumped the Greyhounds at least six places higher . . . A 2-6-0 mark is shown for the 'Hounds when the record should read 3-6-0. Saylor rates Wilkinsburg as the top team (naturally) Clairton second, Uniontown third, New Kensington fourth and Charleroi in fifth . . . Champion Braddock is the Class A top team but Saylor surprised by rating B co-champions Montour Joint and Avella in sixth and ninth places respectively because of caliber of opposition . . . Bellmar, Rostraver Defeated

S. Union, Elizabeth Cop Wins

Games went on the wrong side of the ledger for both Bellmar and Rostraver last night as the Hurricanes bowed to South Union by a 66-29 count and the Leopards suffered a 56-48 defeat at the hands of Elizabeth-Forward.

At South Union, the 'Canes fell behind, 15-8 at the end of the first period and never pulled out of it as Ron Novak, of South Union football fame, led the attack for the victors.

John Badock, used on the inside by Coach Tom Healey of Bellmar for the first time and he responded with 13 points but got very little scoring help from his mates Novak had 21 for the winners, Vansickle checking in with 10.

Rostraver, playing at Elizabeth, kept on the Warriors' heels but never got close enough as the E-F five kept adding a point or two each quarter.

The half-time count was 28-20 Elizabeth, then 45-34 the third period before the final 56-48 total

Rich Shaffer with 13 points and Chuck Ahlborn with 10 led the scoring for Coach George Everetts lads, Elizabeth paced by Frank Bernadowski who had 16 and Jim Cunningham who had 15 for Bill Benedetti's lads

Locals Lead with 1:40 Left, Lose in Last 20 Seconds

A nip and tuck game found the tall, speedy Raiders on top from the opening whistel with the locals just a step behind. The first quarter ended 12-12.

Uniontown appeared to be pulling away in the second quarter when the Raiders had a nine-point bulge and the reserves were sent into action The 'Hounds quickly narrowed the gap to 27-25 at halftime.

Monessen lost the ball on an out of bounds and alert Uniontown ytook advantage. got Freeman loose again with 20 seconds left for the final 54-52 count With 20 seconds on the clock Joe Kurey who had 15 points to share honors for Monessen with Bill, just missed on a shot before the buzzer.

PARIS (UP) — Germinal Ballarin of France, who outpointed Italo Scortichini of Italy in a 10-round bout last night, probably will be matched against European middleweight champion Charles Humez early next year. Ballarin, hampered by a gashed left brow and a damaged nose, rallied in the late rounds to gain the decision.

Pirates Still NY Possibility, but Johnson Doubts Move Rumors

NEW YORK (UP)— A special committee, dedicated to restore National League Baseball in New York, awaited assurance today by Commissioner Ford Frick that New York will be considered "open territory" so that it would be worthwhile to go ahead with the project.

The group members, William A. Shea, Bernard F. Gimbel, Clinton Blume and James A. Farley, met with the press Tuesday to outline their efforts to bring a NL club here.

The group said it will seek an appointment with Frick when he returns to New York Friday.

Shea said, "New York is entitled to at least one National League team" and added that if the city is not kept open territory "it would be against the best interest of all New Yorkers."

At the recent major-minor league meetings in Colorado Springs, Colo., Frick made it clear that he is in favor of declaring New York "open territory."

The committee, in a wire to Frick, said that "if the NL territorial rights in New York are not abandoned, it can secure an existing franchise."

The franchise was not specified, but both the Cincinnati Redlegs and Pittsburgh Pirates are considered possible candidates to move to New York.

Pittsburgh Pirates vice President Tom Johnson said today he had heard nothing about moving to New York.

"I'm certainly sure that if such a move was being contemplated, John Galbreath, who as president of the Pittsburgh Pirates controls most of the club's stock, would have contacted me by this time," he said.

Johnson said Galbreath recently received a "feeler" from a baseball committee appointed by New York mayor Robert Wagner.

"I can assure you that Mr. Galbreath emphatically turned down the offer to move the Pittsburgh franchise," Johnson said.

Basilio 'Fighter of Year' for Second Time; Dempsey Cited

NEW YORK (UP) — Carmen Basilio and Jack Dempsey have been unanimously voted boxing's highest awards for 1957.

The Boxing Writers' Association announced today that middleweight champion Basilio is "Fighter of the Year" for an unprecedented second time, and that ex-heavyweight ruler Dempsey gets the award for "long and meritorious service" to the sport.

Their plaques will be presented at the writers' annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, Jan. 14.

The Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque for the person who has contributed most to boxing during the year, but which has become the "Fighter of the Year" award, was voted to 30-year-old Basilio at Tuesday's annual meeting of the writers. He had also won that honor in 1955. No one else ever took it twice.

Dempsey, now 62, won the Neil plaque in 1938 for his contributions to the sport's welfare that year; and when he was voted the James J. Walker award Tuesday for long and meritorious service, he was the second ever to win both trophies.

Only the late James J. Walker, himself, had won the two plaques. Walker, former mayor of New York, was father of the state's modern boxing law and an enthusiastic battler for the sport.

Basilio of Chittenango, N.Y., was named fighter of the year Tuesday because of his defense of the welterweight (147-pound) title on a second-round knockout over Johnny Saxton, Feb. 22, and his capture of the middleweight (160-pound) crown from Sugar Ray Robinson on a 15-round decision in their thrilling fight at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

Carmen relinquished the welter title automatically when he won the middleweight championship.

Dempsey was voted the Walker award because of his long and persistent campaign against evils in the fight game, because of his encouragement to young fighters and because of his assistance in the drive against juvenile delinquency.

Hoffa Case Is Ending

NEW YORK (UP)— The government may rest its case today against Teamster President-elect James R. Hoffa, charged with conspiring to tap the telephones of union underlings at the teamster headquarters in Detroit.

Hoffa and two co-defendants, wiretap expert Bernard Spindel and Owen B. Brennan, president of Detroit Local 37, face a possible sentence of one year in prison and $10,000 in fines if convicted. Testimony has indicated that Hoffa ordered the taps because he feared union "small fry" were selling him out to Senate investigators.

A government witness, Bernard Chamine, gave testimony Tuesday which conflicted with testimony he gave to the grand jury that indicated Hoffa.

Williams read to the jury statements Chamine had made to the grand jury. The witness had admitted that Spindel had hired him to tap phones in the Detroit headquarters so that Hoffa could listen to and record phone talks of his underlings. Chamine told the grand jury he had done the preliminary wiring so that Hoffa could accomplish this.

Under direct examination, Chamine insisted that he never meant to tell the grand jury that he had actually tapped phones in the sense of setting them up to intercept phone conversations. He said the telephones were "b u g g d" with microphones so that Hoffa could listen to and record conversations in union offices other than his own. "Bugging" of telephones is not a crime.

'Goon Squad' Violence Acts Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UP —The Senate Rackets Committee conducted a roll call today for Teamster officials linked by tesumony to beatings and other acts of "goon squad" violence in Tennessee.

Rebuffed by Fifth Amendment pleas of two Teamster leaders Tuesday, the committee scheduled four more as witnesses today. The session was to be the final one this week in the current investigation.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Don Vestal, president of Nashville's Teamster Local 327; Perry Cannady, one of the local's business agents; and Bobby Marston, a member of the local, w e r e scheduled as witnesses along with William J. Reynolds, former president of Teamster Local 621 in Knoxville.

Vestal has been described as the man who gives the orders [illegible] 327 which has figured as the source of much of the violence under committee study. The others have been named in testimony as involved in the rough and tumble.

In addition Kennedy said the committee would call L. M. "Red" Hoover, president and business agent for Teamster Local 891 in Jackson, Miss., where there was violence, according to previous committee testimony.

Hobby, Sports Equipment Make Excellent Gifts

Most hobby and sports enthusiasts never have enough equipment. That's why those items make such a hit as gifts at Christmas.

If photography is their love, a camera, projector, screen, flash attachment, light meter, film, storage box or flashbulbs, will be well received.

For the golfer, you can give clubs, bag, head covers, gloves, practice ball bags, shield straps, cap, visors, tees, home putting devices or carts.

Fishermen like to add to their collection of flies, poles, nets, rods, reels, buckets, baskets and the like.

Guns, ammunition and targets are appreciated by the hunter.

The bowler likes to have his own ball, a bag and shoes.

For the campers there is everything from a tent to a flashlight battery to round out his equipment supply.

Hobby shops carry kits and materials to suit all ages and many interests. For families, there are hobbies everyone can enjoy together.

Sports shops offer a wide variety of items to give the players of ball games or fans of winter sports.

'Tranquilizers' Used in Other Ages; Helped Block Progress

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — Other ages had their "tranquilizing drugs" too, a medical scientist has reminded the profession—and some of those drugs eventually blocked the general progress of the peoples who used them generously.

Prof. Julius Pomeranze of New York Medical College specified that he referred to "alcohol, tobacco, betel nut, cocoa leaf, opium and heroin." His was the newest voice raised in warning against the over-prescribing and over-use of happy pills.

"Tension and anxiety are not only products of progress — they are also factors in its development," he said. "Anxiety creates the drives that lead us to progress. Tranquilizing drugs of the past have moderated drives, altered physical structure and destroyed emotional patterns. In this sense they have impeded progress."

He granted that it was "not pleasant to live with constant anxiety." But, he continued, realistic situations of living produce anxiety — quite realistically. And it is the anxiety and the "drives" anxiety mobilizes that permit the mastering of the situations, he said; adding: "to destroy these anxieties may destroy our mechanism for handling these situations."

His warning was circulated among medical men through the technical journal of the American Geriatrics Society. It was based upon the premise that "the role of the physician cannot be replaced with drugs. Drugs can only be useful when the physician has established the role of friend, helper and true mediator, and then prescribes with full knowledge of the drug and the patient."

This age of medical chemistry has created "extremely valuable drugs" but it also has encouraged laxity in diagnosis. He thought it would be "a great advance for mankind if a drug were able to overcome the neurotic drives which lead us to unhappiness. Unfortunately the facts, when carefully considered, leave little hope that such a drug has been found."

He said the tranquilizers chlorpromazine and rauwolfie serpentina had been proven to have real effects in body chemistry and were both useful in the treatment of some severe mental disorders. He questioned that real effects in body chemistry had been proven in the case of meprobromate which is marketed under the trade names of "miltown" and "equanil."

He said meprobromate h a d been proven out only for persons who are mildly neurotic and, at the same time, have a good understanding of their own emotional processes which produce their unhappiness, and an understanding of what stresses upset them.

"However, awareness of the situation and good insight are fundamental in the self - evaluation of tension, and this evaluation often causes the tension and its somatic (bodily) components to disappear," he said.

"Drugs for which such claims are made must therefore be measured with extreme care, for, results attributed to the drug may be the result of the patient's own emotional effort."

Thanks for That

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (UP)—Police here are glad that one criminal here has become a number instead of a name. He is Mario Castelnveouotedeseo, who was sentenced to 2½ years in prison for breaking, entering and theft.

Spain Taking no Chances in Ifni

By PETER KNOX

MADRID (UP)—Spain is taking no chances in the African enclave of Ifni. It has more at stake than a few thousand square miles of worthless desert land.

Its ancient tradition of breeding a race of tough fighting men, its future in Africa, its foreign policy, and, maybe, its economic strength could all be affected by the way the desert war goes.

Spanish officials claim it is going well, and that the 700-square-mile enclave carved out of Morocco on the West African coast soon will be firmly under their control again, with the army of attacking Moroccan irregulars beaten back.

But the violence and effectiveness of the first rebel sweep early in the morning of Saturday, Nov. 23, will not be quickly forgotten.

The rebels punched deep into Spanish territory, encircling Spanish garrison outposts and inland villages.

Planes Had Field Day

In the capital, Sidi Ifni, the airport had to be closed to regular commercial traffic. Reinforcements were rushed south from Spain, and the Spanish air force went into action with its old German World War II planes based in the Canary Islands. Heinkels and Messerschmidts reportedly had a field day.

The exact number of troops or airplanes involved has never been disclosed. Spain was believed to have 2,000 to 3,000 troops in Ifni when the trouble started. It probably has double that number now.

The Spaniards said the first rebel attack was launched by 1,200 men. But the rebels spread out so far and wide many observers believe ten times that number joined in the advance.

Moroccans Want Ifni

Perhaps more difficult than the military outlook is the political aspect. Even if Spain wins the battles, it is not likely that the Moroccans will give up their demands for the return of Ifni.

Spain already has turned down one official Moroccan request for the territory earlier this year, but said it was willing to submit the matter to the Hague Court or some other international tribunal. Spain claims Ifni as a sovereign possession by virtue of an 1860 treaty.

There are various reasons why Spain does not want to yield Ifni. If Spain loses Ifni, it would give Morocco a boost to put on pressure for the return of the tragically important and prized ports of Ceuta and Melilla.

The Spanish situation in the zone to the south of Morocco, Rio De Oro, also would become difficult. There are persistent reports that oil might be found there.

Beck Testimony May End Today

SEATTLE (UP)—Defense Attorney Charles S. Burdell may finish presentation of his case today in the grand larceny trial of Teamster President Dave Beck.

Beck is accused of keeping for himself the $1,900 realized from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac.

Burdell won an important victory Tuesday when Judge George H Revelle ruled Beck's private secretary could not be cross-examined on why she invoked the Fifth Amendment last summer when she appeared before a King County grand jury.

It was this grand jury which indicted Beck on the charge of grand larceny by embezzlement.

Refugees Checked

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States placed undercover agents among Hungarian refugees brought to this country to prevent Communists from sneaking in with them, Representative Frank Chelf (D-Ky.) said Tuesday. Chelf said the agents were disguised as refugees and circulated among Hungarian escapees on ships bringing them to the United States.

'Cry' on Wall Street

By ELMER C. WALZER

NEW YORK (UP) — While there are no women members of the New York or American stock exchanges, there are many wonderful women in Wall Street doing what many call men's work without press releases or other fanfare.

So it is probably a generous gesture for a Wall Street man to say the stock market is like a woman because it can be emotional at times and that it feels better after a "good cry."

That statement is attributed to Shelby Cullom Davis, senior partner of Shelby Cullom Davis & Co., specialists in insurance stocks and municipal bonds.

Davis believes the devastating, emotional markets of the fall of 1957 represent the same kind of "good cry" that the market had in 1946 and 1937.

All-out For Defense

Both those bear markets, he notes, were short-lived in their intensity, but the rebuilding took time "because there was no great foreign menace."

Davis looks for a drive to outdo the Soviet in everything and hence sees no chance of a depression developing. He sees an all-out drive for defense, more aid to our Allies in the form of capital goods and other spending.

He believes the current recession will be held to moderate limits, say within 5 per cent of the present, and notes the stock market already reflects this thinking.

But he doesn't believe the market will be a one-way affair in 1958 any more than it was in 1957.

He believes investors now are in the position of the woman shopper who goes from store to store in the hope she can buy it cheaper.

Expects Ups And Downs

"Naturally," he says, "investors also want to buy them cheaper. For that reason markets will probably be subjected to emotional ups and downs, particularly early in 1958.

"But the longer trend during the year seems up. Investors who stay out of stocks too long do so at their own peril. The year 1958 could be like 1953, a year of consolidation, with upthrusts in heavily sold and depressed industries as their earning power revives. It will probably be a year of laying the groundwork for a resumption of the bull market advance and new highs by 1959."

Davis doesn't rule out the possibility of a test of the old lows in event of disheartening developments abroad. But, he feels 1958 will "be a good year to accumulate stocks carefully."

The normal expectation would be for the stock market recovery in 1958 to take place with varying degrees of selectivity, he concludes.

Hero of the Day

HUMBOLDT, Tenn. (UP)—Quick action by a school bus driver was credited today with saving 45 school children from being plunged into a ravine. Driver Homer Robinson said he jammed the accelerator "to the floorboard" when he felt a bridge over the ravine giving way. The bus barely made solid ground before the structure collapsed.

Cities Discuss Changes

HARRISBURG (UP) — Home rule charter commission delegates from Butler, Pottsville and Johnstown conferred here Tuesday with state and national officials on possible revision of their local government structure.

The delegates were from the three third - class cities which voted for charter commissions at the November elections. The commissions can offer their cities a choice of local governments, including the commission, mayor-council or council-manager type.

Richard S. Childs, from the National Municipal League, said statistics showed the council-manager type of government was becoming more popular across the nation. He said both the commission and mayor - council forms were "dwindling."

Defense Chief Tours 'Pentomic' Divisions

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy today made a lightning tour of the American "pentomic" divisions which form NATO's frontline defenses in West Germany.

McElroy flew here Tuesday night from West Berlin and met U.S. Seventh Army Commander Gen. Bruce Clark at 8 a.m. He planned to spend the day visiting Seventh Army units.

McElroy's plans a visit to nearby Augsburg to see the Army's 280 millimeter Honest John cannon and the Corporal guided missile, both of which can be equipped with nuclear warheads.

The atomic cannon and the Corporal missile are the U.S. Army's main defense in West Germany for beating off any Soviet attack.

Will Fly To Paris

McElroy flies to Paris later this week for the NATO summit conference. He told reporters in Berlin Tuesday the conference would discuss the U.S. offer to set up intermediate range ballistic missile bases in Western Europe and stockpile nuclear warheads on the continent.

He also said an Anglo-American agreement on missile bases in Britain would be signed soon.

West German authorities indicated they would postpone a decision on whether to accept the missiles until the matter has been thrashed out by NATO.

Will Watch Troop Jump

McElroy leaves by train for Landstuhl Air Base near Kaiserslautern late today after watching a paratroop jumping exercise.

Thursday he will confer at Landstuhl with Gen. Frank F. Everest, commander of U.S. Air Forces in Europe before flying to Bonn for a brief meeting with West German Defense Minister Franz - Josef Strauss.

The meeting was arranged hurriedly after German authorities complained that McElroy, visiting Germany for the first time since he took office, had snubbed the German defense minister by not arranging to call on him.

Group singing of "Silent Night" by candlelight and the benediction by the pastor concluded the evenings festivities.

Claims World's Tallest Tree

LANDER, Wyo. (UP) — This central Wyoming town of about 4,000 claims the world's tallest Christmas tree, a 103-foot 10-inch Engelman spruce erected on its main street.

Monday night 350 multi-colored electric lights were turned on the tree on a signal from Vice President Richard Nixon and Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson.

Twenty-five men cut the tree 100 miles to the north in Shoshone National Forest and hauled it here on a 40-foot flatbed truck using an auxiliary dolly. William T. Nightingale of the Lander Chamber of Commerce said the tree is believed to be 218 years old.

Catholic Daughters in Joint Observance on Sunday

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Miriam 1315 of West Newton, held a joint Christmas and anniversary banquet at the Holy Family Church Hall on Sunday. This was the 19th anniversary of the organization of the Court.

Father Guth received a birthday gift and a cake as a gift. Santa Claus had a grab bag full of gifts for the 79 members and guests who attended the affair. The Grand Regent, Mrs. Helen Megela, received a Christmas gift.

The officers table had a centerpiece of a flocked tray with evergreen branches, candles, and an angel figurine. The other tables had candle decorations.

The program committee provided the following entertainment: vocal trio, Jaye Ann Fedrow, Donna Genemore, and Kathleen Werner; vocal solo, Diana Cunningham; pantomine, Joanna Prosba; and a tap dance, Karen Fedrow.

Game prizes were awarded to Mrs Irene Cunningham and Mrs. Helen S. Tamasy.

The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held on January 7.

Mrs. Helen Megela, grand regent, presided at the regular monthly meeting at the Holy Family Church Hall last Tuesday evening.

The birthday table honored the following: Mrs. Ella Fedrow, Mrs. Dorcas Genemore, Mrs. Margaret Terpak, Mrs. Thelma Marsh, and Mrs. Irene Cunningham. They each received a Christmas gift and a home-made cake.

The free dues were awarded to Mrs. Helena Nista; the pig-in-the-poke, to Mrs. Edith Rodriguez. The program committee provided music and a reading for the entertainment for the 35 members present.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of the December committee. They are: Mrs. Mary Brea, chairman; Mrs. Helen Kusjaz, co-chairman; Miss Margaret Romanak; Mrs. Ann Tapper; Mrs. Edith Rodriguez; Mrs. Catherine Romanosky; Mrs. Helen Romanosky; Mrs. Mary Nohavicka; Mrs. Rita Keegan and Mrs. Helen Mortle.

Longleaf pine survives better than competing species in dry areas where fires are frequent because the scaly, orange-brown bark of the mature trees resists fire. Shortleaf pine survives by sprouting from the stump after burning or cutting, as many hardwoods do.

Bulganin Sends Personal Letter To Macmillan

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has sent a personal letter to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, official sources said today.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik handed the letter over at No. 10 Downing Street, the residence of the Prime Minnster, this morning.

The contents of Bulganin's message were not disclosed, but the text was expected to be released before the end of the week, probably on Friday.

Informd sources said the Bulganin letter apparently followed broadly the lines of a message he sent to President Eisenhower Tuesday.

The letter was understood to deal with disarmament issues and NATO problems, especially the projected establishment of missile bases in Britain.

Eggheads Have Place To Study and Play at Princeton Institute

By FRED DANZIG

PRINCETON, N J. (UP)—The Institute for Advanced Study here is the only full-time incubator for eggheads on this planet. It provides the elite in the arts and sciences with a place to study, write, think—and gab.

The 27-year-old institute is unique because it is not a college or research institute, has no formal curriculum or classes, awards no degrees, has no teachers in the accepted meaning of the word. With assets of some 21-million dollars, the institute has only one major piece of scientific equipment—a computer.

The institute owns a square-mile of land southwest of the Princeton University campus, which makes for a cozy relationship between the two although they are completely separate. A four-story main building, Fuld Hall, is set in the center of an arc-like pattern of five brick colonial-style office and seminar buildings

Maintain Einstein Traditions

In this setting where ordinary worldly cares are absent, the heirs of the late Albert Einstein continue to make important discoveries

Founded in 1930 with a five-million-dollar gift from Newark Department store owner Louis Bamberger and his sister, Mrs Felix Fuld, the institute has two schools: mathematics, devoted to logical analysis, and historical studies, including art, music, archeology and literature.

One member of the historical studies school got a laugh recently when he referred to the math school as "ze uzzer side."

A layman visiting the institute soon gets lost trying to follow the 107 temporary members as they ponder the mysteries of nature and the import of man's handiwork. But it's another story when they relax

Some of the younger physicists and mathematicians play touch football in their spare time. "It's a lot of fun" said a member "especially in the huddle, when we try to explain a play to the French players"

Relax With Chess

Other members prefer to relax by flipping plastic flying saucers to one another on the vast lawn Ping-pong and chess are popular along with nature walks in the nearby woods "It's the only place around where there are no blackboards" mused one member near the nature trail He referred to the ubiquitous blackboard, without which the average institute physicist probably would be unable to function

To the members the greatest feature of the institute is the fact that it has no schedule no pressure, no undergraduates A member can work alone in his office for as many hours a day as he sees fit Or he can walk across the hall to talk to a colleague He can drop in for a talk with Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, institute director for the past 10 years whose large green-carpeted office in Fuld Hall is always open

He'll find plenty of blackboard space and chalk available in "Oppy's" office.

Laird Hands Prison Term

GREENSBURG, Pa (UP) — Judge Richard D Laird today imposed a 6-to-12-year prison term on a Cambria County man who pleaded guilty to stealing collection boxes from Westmoreland County churches

Wesley R Clevenger 26 Vintondale RD 1 drew the sentence after he admitted taking $65 last spring and summer from St Mary's Greek Catholic Church in Derry Twp and the Derry Methodist Church

Clevenger was released recently from the Indiana County jail where he had served a term for a similar offense

Redstone Missile Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—An Army Redstone, the third missile of the week, blasted off in a successful flight from this test center Tuesday night and a host of observers resumed their watch for launching of a potential satellite-carrying Jupiter and an ocean-spanning Atlas.

The modified version of the short-range Redstone soared into space in a spectacular night flight, trailing a huge ball of orange flame that was visible for about four minutes before it finally became one of the millions of pinpoints of light dotting the cold, clear sky.

The successful firing of the Redstone, a junior version of the Jupiter intermediate range rocket, came after two smaller missiles were launched earlier in a week of accelerated activity after the failure of the Navy Vanguard to put a baby moon into orbit.

A ground-to-air Bomarc was launched Monday and an unidentified small missile, similar to the Bomarc, was sent speeding skyward trailing a slim streak of vapor Tuesday afternoon. Officials at nearby Patrick Air Force Base readily identified the Bomarc but refused to say what type of missile was fired Tuesday afternoon.

Rumors, none confirmed in the slightest degree, said a Jupiter C carrying a satellite might be fired this week.

While observers scanned the Cape Canaveral test center Tuesday they saw a huge Atlas uncovered from its gantry crane and static-fired in late afternoon. It was one of two Atlases known to be on the Cape, and the same one which had been pre-flight-tested for some three weeks.

'SACRIFICED' TO TEAMSTERS — Joseph Katz (left), president of the Terminal Transport company, Atlanta, Ga., tells the Senate rackets hearing in Washington that he "sacrificed" rights of Frank J. Allen (right), his former manager in Nashville, Tenn., to "keep peace with the union." Allen suffered a "brutal beating," and, Katz testified, assault charges against W. A. (Hard Hearing Smitty) Smith were dropped at the urging of Teamsters official James Hoffa.

Labor Calling for Sizable Wage Increases

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—Leaders of organized labor called today for sizable wage increases next year to offset a "deteriorating" economy.

The rally cry for more pay in '58 for 13,500,000 members of the AFL-CIO was sounded in a resolution the federation's convention was almost certain to approve.

Key features of President Eisenhower's proposals to prevent union - management racketeering were blasted Tuesday by labor's hierarchy, which claimed marked progress in the AFL-CIO's own anti-corruption drive.

Meany Skeptical

A "very skeptical" George Meany, federation president, warned that some items in the administration labor package might be used to put all union activity under government control.

The dip in business activity makes it twice as important that unions get big pay hikes to beef up consumer buying power, the resolution said.

Meany told the AFL-CIO general board to examine closely the administration program outlined last Thursday by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. He warned that some of the proposals would allow too much government interference.

Blasted Picket Curbs

The AFL-CIO president blasted the program's picketing curbs which he said would give special protection to the "non-union . . . substandard employer" and infringe on the constitutional right of free speech.

The proposal to require secret-ballot elections "bothers me very much," Meany said. It goes "pretty deep into the internal affairs of the trade unions themselves." He said the "new bureaucracy which they will call the office of the commissioner of labor reports" would be "only a very short step . . . to licensing legislation" for unions.

Turnpike Board Gets Notice of Wage Request

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania State Employes Council (AFL-CIO) has served notice on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission it will demand improved working conditions and a flat $500 wage increase for turnpike employes.

Council President Reuben H. Miller said more than 500 of the toll road agency's estimated 1,100 operational and maintenance workers have been organized as an affiliate of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Miller said the new local 1385 planned to organize the remainder during the next few months. The union would include all employes except salaried workers.

Edward P. Dailey, regional director of the federation, said he planned to confer with the commission next January to present formally a list of eight requests designed to increase the workers pay and fringe benefits. Included are proposals for a 25 cent per hour across the board wage hike, time and one-half for overtime, double time for holidays and paid vacations.

Miller said the local wanted to "bring the lot" of the hourly worker up closer to the pay and status of the salaried employe. He said the turnpike and many state agencies treated their hourly workers "like stepchildren."

The union recently organized 5,000 workers in the state Highways Department and Miller said another 9,000 would be brought into the union shortly.

Rodents and insects destroy about five per cent of the stored grain in the United States each year.

Trucker Claims Life Threatened in Dispute

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Miami, Fla., truck driver faced cross-examination today on his claim his life was threatened when he protested the choice of an alleged embezzler as his local's delegate to the union's convention.

The truck driver, William Richard Bennett, was recalled to testify at a federal court trial in which 13 rank and file teamsters are trying to nullify the election of James R. Hoffa as teamsters president. Hoffa is under a temporary court order forbidding him to take office pending outcome of the trial.

Testifies Against Belles

Bennett testified Tuesday that the official against whom he protested—Ernest G. Belles — was not even legally a member of the union.

He said Belles was convicted in 1954 by a union panel of embezzling $47,000 from Buffalo, N.Y., Teamsters Local 375, expelled from the union and fined $50,000. He said Belles was president of Local 375 and was later appointed president of Miami's Local 390 despite his ouster.

Bennett said his life was threatened three different times after he protested against Belles' appointment as a delegate to the union's 1957 Miami Beach convention.

Belles was not legally elected a delegate to the convention that elected Hoffa president, Bennett said, but hand picked by the local's executive board.

Belles withdrew as a delegate to the convention, Bennett said, and tried to send his own choice as a substitute. But Bennett said the local rebelled and picked its own delegate.

Dumont Acquires Fan Manufacturer

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UP)—Dumont-Airplane & Marine Instruments, Inc. today announced the purchase of Le John Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Huntington, W. Va., for an undisclosed sum. The acquisition followed the purchase of a major interest in Dumont on Nov. 12 by Frank Proctor & Associates, Inc., of New York. Proctor said at the time he anticipated a vigorous program of acquisition and expansion for Dumont.

Le John, a maker of fans, blowers and hair-dryers, had sales for fiscal 1957 in excess of $1,250,000 and a net of about $70,000.

Gifts of Silver This Year

The sparkle of tinsel isn't the only silvery gleam under the Christmas tree this year.

Some of the most beautiful, desired and appreciated gifts this season will be gifts of silver, the Jewelry Industry reports.

A real return to everyday elegance in living and a swing away from the starkly functional toward the useful and beautiful has boomed silver holloware and fine flatwear to the top of thousands of Christmas gift lists.

For women have rediscovered what their grandmother's knew—that fine silver improves with use. And the gleaming beauty of silver pieces adds dignity, glamour and charm to any meal in any room.

Many of the newest of the silver pieces lead a double life. Classic bowls add a special note to food and then are transformed into beautiful centerpieces, holding flowers or greens.

Covered vegetable dishes are cleverly designed so the tops can be used for an open dish, giving two pieces in one, and their use extended for candies, nuts and appetizers.

Gravy boats and small dishes serve sauces and condiments and make an additional debut in the living room holding fruits, nuts and candies.

Silver trays serve cocktails or beverages and then form a sumptuous background for buffet dishes.

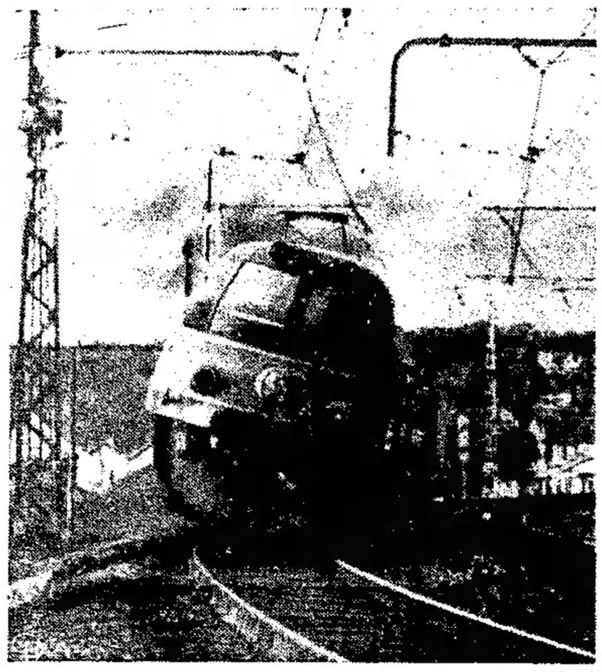
The decorative silver pieces are also enjoying a big boom, the Council reports. Ash trays, cigarette holders, coasters and other charming accessory pieces lend beauty and grace to any room.

And in a special class by themselves as Christmas gifts are candelabra. For the homemaker who has rediscovered the flattery and beauty of candlelight — whether on a dinner or buffet table, or on a mantle or occasional table — candelabra make a very special and lasting gift.

Coffee and beverage services in classic and modern designs, are finding an important place on many Christmas gift lists as women rediscover their potent magic in putting a charming "finishing touch" to any meal.

And the Council points out, that fine silver improves with contact with appreciative human beings.

Many of the newest come in several sections; they can be made into single low candlesticks, high tapered sticks, or several branches can be added quickly and easily with these new convertible beauties.



SELF-BALANCING LOCOMOTIVE — A new self-balancing locomotive, called the "Perpendicular," pulls into a Paris station. New type undercarriage enables the train to take curves at 100 mph. It will be in service soon.

Philadelphia Protests Agricultural Change

By UNITED PRESS

The City of Philadelphia is protesting a change in U. S. Department of Agriculture Policy which would place Philadelphia and other northern ports at a disadvantage in exporting grain.

City representative Frederic R. Mann has urged Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson to reconsider a newly instituted 28-cent-per bushel freight differential on corn bought in northern ports for shipment. Formerly all U. S. shippers paid the same price for corn regardless of which port it was brought.

The new policy announced Thursday by the Commodity Credit Exchange, sets up the differential for all ports north of Baltimore.

In his telegram to Benson, Mann said, "this government action discriminates unfairly against the port of Philadelphia with its established and efficient grain handling facilities."

Farm land value in Pennsylvania has risen 10 per cent above 1956 values.

The state Department of Agriculture reported that the land value increase for the year ending November 1 was 10 per cent greater than the similar period in 1956. The national increase was 8 per cent.

The report predicted higher real estate prices in the next 15 years due to the expanded federal highway program.

It indicated, however, that the increase would be attributable to land being purchased for right-of-way. Farmland adjacent to limited-access highways which remains in farms was not expected to increase in value.

Some Strange Things Happen, Council Finds

CHICAGO (UP)—Ever hear about the doctor who was vaccinated by a cow, or about the landscaper who got himself out on a limb and then sawed himself off?

The National Safety Council did, and listed them in its 1957 record of wacky accidents. Others include a dog catcher who was bitten by a lady and a dog who got a traffic ticket.

These and other mishaps logged by the Council prove that life can be gruesome, zany and dangerous even when you're looking.

Take Dr. J. Guy Jones of Wadesboro, N.C., who was staring a cow in the eye, ready to loose a syringe full of vaccine into the bovine when it lunged at him, vaccinating veterinarian Jones instead.

In Olympia, Wash., a father's first look at his wife as she was wheeled from the delivery room was almost fatal. John Arends, in the excitement of rushing to kiss his wife, inhaled a heady dose of ether, passed out cold, hit the floor face-first and shattered two teeth.

And you're never too far along or too high up to learn something new. Just think of Harry Westscott, a professional landscaper at Mt. Upton, N.Y. Harry knows you shouldn't cut off the branch you're sitting on. But unfortunately, he sawed off the limb holding his safety rope.

Human beings weren't the only freak accident victims. Besides the cow who didn't want to be vaccinated, there's the dog who didn't want to be tickered. Police found the dog at the wheel of a car that rolled out of a San Diego driveway and crashed into a porch across the street.

When Jack the dog climbed into the car, he didn't know that Don Snyder, his master, forgot to set the hand broke. Jack just wagged his tail happily as the officer wrote out a ticket.

Dogcatcher Donald Baird of East Los Angeles got a surprise one day when a lady sank her teeth into him. Seems she was riled because Baird was trying to impound her dog. "It's a dog's life," Baird moaned.

HIS PRINCESS — Mohamed V, Morocco's king, holds his daughter, Princess Lalla Amina, 3, on her arrival in New York to be with him during final days of his U. S visit. Three other daughters also came along.

Two-headed Lamb

EVREUX, France (UP)—A two-headed lamb was born on a farm at nearby Emanville. It eats with either mouth but bleats from both at the same time.

Safety Precautions Listed for Care of The Christmas Tree

Don't be lulled into the belief that a Christmas tree can be rendered flameproof, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council warned today.

Reports from the Underwritiers' Laboratories clearly indicate that chemical solutions are ineffective when it comes to fireproofing trees, the Council states.

Tests have shown that a tree standing in a chemical solution actually has less resistance to ignition than one with no treatment. The treated trees also dry and lose their needles sooner than other trees, according to the Council.

Trees placed in plain water retained resistance to ignition to small flames longer and remained greener and more flexible for a greater time than either dry trees or trees exposed to chemicals.

The council pointed out that flame-proofing might help if treatments started just as soon as the tree is cut. However, it claimed:

Trees Cut Early

"This cannot be done by the majority of people. Most of the trees are cut weeks in advance of purchase."

To help prevent home fires by Christmas trees, the council offered 14 simple precautions:

1. Buy a fresh tree. Be wary of trees sold as fire-proof. Don't attempt to flameproof Christmas trees with chemical solutions.

2. Keep your tree in a cold place — an unheated garage is fine — until ready to set it up. Do not set it up until you are ready to use it.

3. Before setting up the tree, saw off diagonally at least an inch of trunk, and place base in a water-containing holder. Keep water reservoir filled.

4. Locate your tree well away from fireplaces, radiators, television sets, powerful electric lights and other sources of heat.

5. Never use candles for decorations. Use only electric lights, and be sure these bear the Underwriters' Laboratories label. Always check wires for defects and loose sockets before putting them on the tree.

Reduce Loads

6. Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload the house wiring and blow a fuse. Reduce the load or connect part to another circuit outlet. Never increase size of fuse, or substitute a penny for a blown fuse.

7. Turn off the tree lights when no one is to be in the room for any length of time.

8. Do not operate electric trains or other electrical toys which may spark under the tree.

9. Dispose of gift wrappings at once.

10. Use only artificial "snow" and decorations of the flameproofed or noncombustible type for trimming your tree.

11. Be sure the ends of metallic icicles or other hanging decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit and flash fire.

12. Move the Christmas tree lights if the tree's needles near them turn brown. When the needles start to fall, take the tree down and discard it.

13. Dispose of old trees in fire-safe areas outdoors — not in furnaces, stoves, or fireplaces — because Christmas trees burn with almost explosive violence.

14. In case of fire, call the fire department immediately.

Shapiro Charged With Delay in Hospital Funds

HARRISBURG (UP)—Auditor General Charles C. Smith charged today that state Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro had "personally ordered a delay" in the payment of $1,190,825 in surplus funds to 87 state-aided hospitals.

"The checks were all drawn and ready to mail to the hospitals when Mr. Shapiro stepped into the picture and issued verbal orders that the checks were not to go out," Smith said.

Smith added requisitions for the payments were approved earlier by the Welfare Department.

"Apparently the inefficiency is so great in the Welfare Department that Secretary Shapiro has no faith in the actions of his subordinates," Smith charged. "I do not endorse these high-handed tactics unless Secretary Shapiro can show us in writing specifically that something is wrong."

Shapiro, attending a ceremony at Selinsgrove State School, was not available for comment.

The payments would come from a balance in the 1955-57 appropriation to the hospitals for the two-year period which ended last May 31.

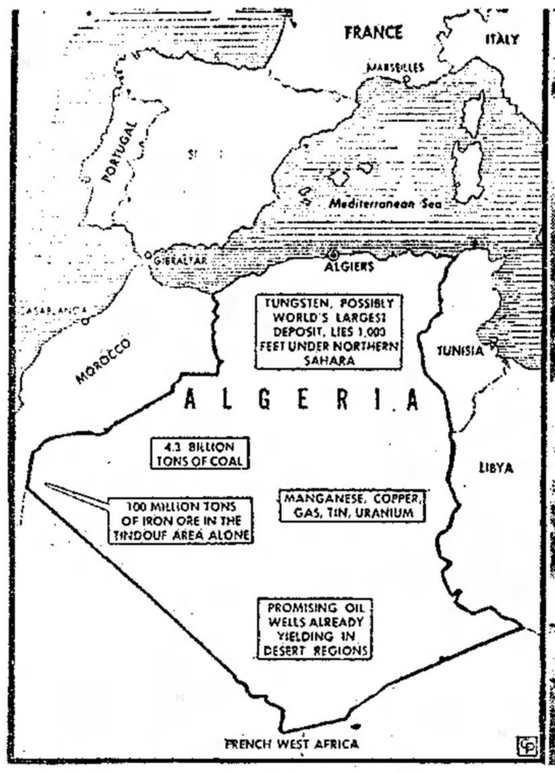
Newspaper to Change Format

HERSEY SHORE, Pa. (UP)—The Jersey Shore Herald, which has published as a standard size afternoon daily since 1903, will be converted into a six-day morning tabloid Jan. 1.

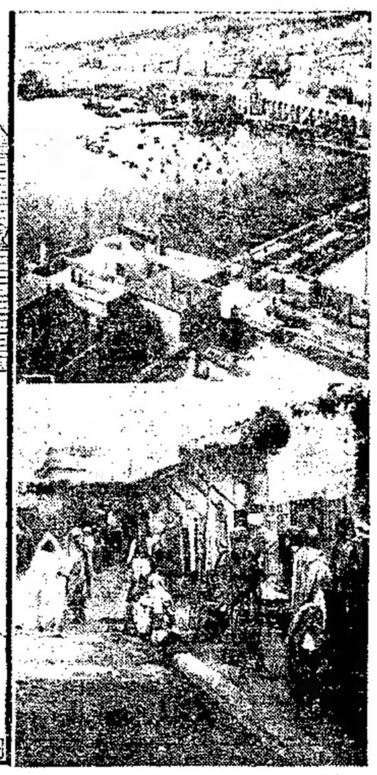
Publisher - owner John D. DeBlase said the newspaper's name will be changed to The Morning Herald and it will carry a minimum of 16 pages.

The new format, DeBlase said, will feature new headline type, three columns to the page instead of five, and two front pages, one on the front, the other on the back. The front page will contain area, local and state news and the back front page will have state, national and international news.

Other changes will include placing the sports section in the center of the paper and a daily bride and groom page, as well as the usual women's pages, comic page, editorial and feature pages.



Thar's minerals in them thar hills.



Algiers, modern and ancient.

RICHES IN ALGERIA — Its not just sand dune real estate that's involved in the revolt on France's hands in Algeria. Untold wealth lies buried in the Atlas mountains on the west and north, and under sands of the Sahara, whose name derives from a primitive word meaning "wild land, good only to be crossed." The Sahara's temperature ranges from 133 F. daytime to a frigid 11 at night. About a million of Algeria's 10,000,000 population live in the Sahara. Most of these are Berbers, a matriarchal people whose men wear veils but whose women do not. The strife in Algeria is costing France more than two and a quarter million dollars a day.

Gas Utility Request Rejected

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today rejected a request by the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh, for an immediate $690,000 annual natural gas rate increase.

The five - member commission turned down the proposal by a vote of 3-2. Chairman Leon Schwartz, Nanticoke, and Commissioners P. Stephen Stahlnecker and Joseph Sharfsin, both Philadelphia, voted to deny the increase.

Commissioners John B. Coniy, Pittsburgh, and Henry Houck, of Shenandoah, voted for the boost.

Manufacturers, serving 247,000 customers in 25 counties, sought the boost to cover an increase in the cost of wholesale gas. The rejected increase is part of an overall $5,645,000 increase under PUC suspension until next March 19.

Public hearings on that proposal along with a $1,523,400 increase granted the firm last Sept. 4, were completed last week.

The commission said a decision on the entire rate structure would be reached in a final order to be drafted as soon as possible.

Manufacturers furnishes service in these counties:

Adam, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Butler, Chester, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Fayette, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Indiana, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren, Washington, Westmoreland, and York.

Make Your Own 'Holiday Candle'

Make your own inexpensive, easy-to-do, "Holiday House" Candle! You can buy everything you need in one stop at the five-and-dime store.

An easily-assembled aluminum cake form mold, costing less than a dollar.

11 bars of Household Paraffin
3" Candle Stub
3 Crayons, Blue, Yellow, Red-Orange
Some Red Sequins
A few Artificial Holly Leaf Clusters
2½" High Christmas Trees

Now, follow these easy steps to make this house:

First, melt nine bars of paraffin in double boiler — not over direct heat. Pour small amounts of wax into another container.

While it cools slightly, place mold, open side up, in cardboard box of about same size! Grease inside of mold with vegetable shortening. Wedge crumpled newspaper at bottom and around inside of box.

Pour some of cooled wax into mold; roll it around until thin coat covers indentations and corners. Repeat process four times for even surface and to prevent leakage. Pour in remaining wax to fill mold.

Place mold, in supporting box, in refrigerator overnight or until completely hard.

Remove candle. With paring knife, dig out quarter inch layer for windows and doors on both sides.

Dissolve blue crayon in quarter cakes of paraffin, then spoon into windows. Do same with yellow crayon for doors. Be sure wax is thoroughly dry before working on other side. (Spills can be trimmed away with paring knife.)

For chimney, cut two sections, each 1½" wide, from end of wax bar. Use point of knife to make groove from top to bottom in center of one section. Trim excess wax from candle stub, place wick in groove. "Glue" two sections together with melted wax.

Dissolve red-orange crayon in half cake of wax. Use dip and harden process four times for chimney.

After all has hardened, cut notch in bottom of chimney to fit snugly to the sloping roof of house. Attach it with melted wax.

Use household glue (not paste) to add holly, sequins and trees.

SALES UP — Sixteen of the 22 industries in this chart shows sales gains (left column) for the first half of 1957 over the same 1956 period, but most net profits (right column) did not keep pace with sales. College Enrollment Hits All-time High CINCINNATI (UP)—College enrollment hit an all-time peak of more than two million students this fall, Dr. Raymond Walters, president-emeritus of the University of Cincinnati reported today.

Walters, who made his 39th annual American college-university enrollment survey in School and Society educational journal, said there were 1,755,103 full-time students and a grand total of 2,415,214 on more than 1,000 campuses.

He said, however, that although enrollment was up 2.7 per cent in full-time students and 8 per cent in part-time students, the number in teachers colleges was "far too small."

Walters said there were 1,084,664 men full-time students compared to 540,717 women. He also pointed out that the United States turned out 28,835 engineers for accredited colleges last year, while Russia graduated 71,000 from 760 institutions.

Walters said a number of schools now limit freshman admission because of crowded conditions.

"We see here a portent of what is to happen, when in a few years, campus gates will be besieged by pupils now in the primary grades who represent the pronounced rise in the birthrate which followed World War II and still continues," he said.

The report showed Ohio State was ninth in the nation in full-time enrollment with 20,433 students, behind California, City College of New York, State U. of New York, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, Texas and Wisconsin.

Ohio State ranked 10th in grand totals with 22,611, while the University of Cincinnati had 15,781 for a 24th place standing.

Procession Banned

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP)—Members of Jerusalem's consular corps will not be allowed to take the traditional Hebron road to Bethlehem on Christmas Eve, it was disclosedt oday. The Jordan government reportedly banned the colorful ceremonial procession in which the consuls customarily wore full regalia. The consuls will have to cross the border through the Mandelbaum Gate in Jerusalem, the only open road between Israel and Jordan. The procession was banned last year, also.

New Attorney General Giving Justice Department New Look

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Justice Department is taking on a new look under the dynamic leadership of Attorney General William Pierce Rogers.

Only a few weeks on the job, Rogers already is acting like a new broom sweeping clean.

In that brief time, the new "A.G." has filled two of four top-level vacancies in the department. He also has made some staff changes, and a number of top strata shifts appear to be in the wind.

The handsome, hard - driving Rogers is gathering around him bright and brainy men bearing like him the stamp of "modern Republicanism." Two such men are federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh, the new deputy attorney general-designate, and W. Wilson White who will head the new Civil Rights Division.

Two Jobs Open

Rogers still has to pick men to fill the top job in the criminal division and the office of department legal counsel.

No abrupt shake-up is anticipated, but gradually and smoothly Rogers is expected to place around him his own coterie of legal experts.

Meanwhile, Rogers has stepped into the shoes of former Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. like a pro long groomed for the post. As number two man in the department under Brownell, Rogers had a hand in all the policy-making decisions—and a bigger hand in seeing that they were carried out.

That Rogers is a comer in the Eisenhower administration and the Republican hierarchy is generally conceded. His rise in the national political picture has been swift.

As attorney general, the affable, blond-haired, blue-eyed Rogers will be constantly in the limelight. Some observers believe he will be presidential timber some day.

William P. Rogers

Rogers ranks next to Vice President Richard M. Nixon as GOP glamor boy. But they are not rivals for political favor. They are close friends, and Rogers is among those plugging the hardest for Nixon to win the next Republican presidential nomination.

Rogers new prominence in the Republican sun was spotlighted after President Eisenhower's Nov. 25 cerebral attack.

Acting at the request of the White House staff, Rogers questioned the doctors studied the situation, and came up with the decision that no delegation of presidential duties was necessary.

Nixon and Rogers hovered close to the President during those critical hours when the doctors were confirming their diagnosis. They have teamed up many times.

It was to Rogers' home that the vice president sped for advice and comfort when President Eisenhower suffered his heart attack in 1955.

During the 1952 presidential campaign, Rogers was one of Nixon's chief political advisers. He was at Nixon's elbow during the disquieting days that followed disclosure of the private fund raised by California friends for Nixon.

It was Rogers who told Nixon to appeal to the public as he would to a jury. The result was the famous broadcast in which Nixon said the only personal gift he ever got was his dog "Checkers."

Rogers is lean, broad - shouldered, six-feet tall. He is photogenic and as handsome in a clean-cut way as a movie idol.

Rogers is 44, a half-year younger than Nixon. In addition to charm, he possesses ability. He won his political spurs when as counsel for a Senate investigating committee during the Truman administration, he helped to expose the "mink coat" and "deep freeze" scandals.

Belle Vernon Burgess Vetoes Monthly Salary for Council

Belle Vernon Burgess William Venneri has voted an ordinance which would have provided a $15 monthly salary for members of Council.

Venneri made public his veto during a meeting of Council on Monday. He was opposed to the measure at this time because he felt the financial condition of the borough was such that additional expenses were not adviseable.

Venneri added that the salary proposal conflicted with his personal concept of public service and suggested that Council table the matter at least until the borough finds itself in better financial shape.

During the business meeting Council agreed to vacate an unused alley between Blind Lane and Coal Alley.

Also approved was the installation of a main sewer on Washington Ave.

Garbage Bid

The garbage bid was awarded to Attilio Ruffo, Perryopolis, who agreed to pay the borough $300 for the rights. Also bidding were Arnold Kearns, Belle Vernon; the Fayette Reduction Co.; and William White, Perryopolis.

Council okayed a complete overhauling of the fire truck motor in the spring. Work was completed recently on both the fire and borough trucks, it was reported.

Tax Collector S.E. Smith told Council that $272.02 has been collected since his last report. Treasurer Patsy Ginglardi said the balance on hand in all accounts is $14,649.69.

Alex Basits, president, was in charge of the meeting. Other council members in attendance were Joe Caputo, George Fedarko, Roger Gaggini and Al Dominick.

Also present were Burgess Venneri, Solicitor John Costello and Secretary Joseph Ferrari.

Scout Troop 62 Holds Practice For Investiture

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 62 met Monday at 4 p.m. in the Little House.

Maureen Woods, Kay Strenske and Eileen Riskey conducted the flag ceremony. Patrol duties were lead by Ruth Melnick and Kay Strenske.

The girls had a practice session for the investiture which will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 18 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Each girl has been asked to bring a 29 cent gift for the exchange and a 25 cent gift for a needy child on that date. At that time the girls will decide on the Christmas program.

Games were played and the meeting concluded with the Friendship Circle lead by Sharon Myer.

Mrs. Melba Woods is leader and Mrs. Althea Heath is co-leader.

Local Couple At Polio Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boston were guests, representing Westmoreland County, at a dinner at the Webster Hall Hote, Pittsburgh Monday evening.

The dinner was sponsored by the county commissioners of Allegheny County, honoring the leadership of the Allegheny County vaccination program.

Basil O'Conner, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, attended the dinner, as did Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of the Salk polio vaccine.

Mrs. Boston is chairman of the March of Dimes in North Belle Vernon.

The Admirer

CHICAGO (UP) — Muhammed Afanch Mahmud of Jordan became an American citizen Tuesday and got a new name at the same time. Mahmud legally changed his name to Ike Mahmood because "I've always admired President Eisenhower."

Louis Ceccarelli New President Of Fire Company

Louis Ceccarelli, Jr., was elected president of the North Belle Vernon Volunteer Fire Company at its annual reorganization meeting Monday night. He succeeds Vic Silvestro.

Reelected as Chief of the firefighters was Robert E. Whitelaw, Sr.

Other officers elected were James Jones, first vice president; John Peach, second vice president; Carl Sichi, recording secretary; James Price, financial secretary; Al Catrino, treasurer; Lloyd White Christopher, parade marshall; and Jacob Schmidt, Armand Sichi and James Reed, trustees.

William Vizza was chosen first assistant chief and R. E. Whitelaw Jr., second assistant chief.

Ceccarelli, Jones, Armand and Carl Sichi are newly elected. The others are incumbents.

In addition to Monday's election, a report was given on past fires as well as instructions on winter driving for the truck drivers.

Other routine reports were also given.

Homer Zucconi was named to represent the fire department on the Community Foundation Board.

The next meeting will be held on Monday. The date was advanced from Dec. 23, which is the regularly scheduled night. The change was made because of the Christmas holiday.

TT Card Club in Annual Party

The TT Card Club met last Friday evening at the Elks Club and a turkey dinner was served.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 2, at the home of Mrs. Kuhn, Wood St.

Nazarene Church Plans for 50 Years Service

The Church of the Nazarene, Belle Vernon, along with every church of the denomination, is looking toward the 1958 golden anniversary year of the church.

Dr. S.T. Ludwig, general church secretary, has outlined a series of simultaneous events in which every Nazarene church will participate.

Pastors of local churches are now planning for individual or union watch night services, Dec. 31, which will usher in the jubilee year.

Other simultaneous services in Nazarene churches around the world will include:

Jan. 5 — Worship service marking the start of the anniversary year; April 6—Easter offering for world missions, goal: $1,000,000; Oct. 12, 50th anniversary Sunday services; Nov. 23—Thanksgiving offering for world missions, goal: $1,000,000.

Official birthday of the Church of the Nazarene was Oct. 13, 1908 at Pilot Point, Tex., when a group of smaller churches in the East, West and South formally united.

The original 228 churches and 10,000 members have increased in 50 years to 4,500 churches with approximately 300,000 members.

There are actually more pyramids in Mexico, built by the Incas and Aztecs, than there are in Egypt.

Safe Driving Plea Made by Auto Association

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators today made a satellite - inspired plea for safe driving during the Christmas holidays.

The association warned "earthmen propelling four-wheeled vehicles" that their cars have enough horsepower to "launch them on a career in the next world."

It proposed four safety maxims:

—"Avoid maximum acceleration."

—"Stay in your own orbit—Don't weave in and out of lanes."

—"Keep your wits about you as you spin along."

—"Watch your fuel mixture—alcohol in the driver and gasoline in the tank can be a combination to blast you right out of the holidays."

Girl Scouts in Party Tomorrow

The regular meeting of Girl Scout Troop 30, Belle Vernon, which will be held tomorrow will feature the Christmas party. Gifts will be exchanged and crafts which were started at the meeting last Thursday, will be finished.

Names for the gift exchange were picked at the last meeting and dues and camp funds were also collected at that time.

It has been announced that the Christmas candy will be delivered this week.

The meeting closed with the scout circle and taps.

Adams Asking Law Changes

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams has called for an amendment of the Constitution which would allow the vice president to take over the President's office in case of disability.

'Delay of a presidential decision due to incapacity for a day, or even for a few hours, could have grave consequences," Adams warned.

President Eisenhower's recent "minor stroke" made it apparent Congress must "face up to this fact" and approve a constitutional amendment next year, he said.

Adams spoke Monday night at a Republican fund-raising dinner

Rockets not Latest Thing, but Old Hat

By ALBEN KREBS

NEW YORK (UP)—Rocket scientists and engineers who think they're fooling around with the latest thing in weapons may be startled to learn that it just isn't so

Rockets are old hat.

An article in the July, 1854, issue of Harper's magazine shows conclusively that when it comes to rocketry, there's really nothing new under the Sputnik.

They didn't call them by impressive names like Matador and Atlas and Jupiter and Titan, or even Bazooka, but it seems that rockets, considered as projectile weapons, were of great antiquity in India and China."

Fired In Napoleonic Wars

The unsigned Harper's article written 103 years ago, revealed that big rockets were first used by warships in 1806 at Boulogne, during the Napoleonic wars.

"It was less than half an hour after the commencement of the attack," the article said, "that the town was observed to be on fire in many places, and the damage effected was doubtless very great . Lord Lauderdale, while passing through Boulogne shortly after the attack, was vigilantly watched, lest he might observe the extent of the ravage."

Copenhagen was the target of "very heavy rockets" lobbed from ships in 1807 The new and much-feared weapons were used in many land battles, among these the Battle of Waterloo, where rockets wreaked "sad havoc" and helped give Napoleon his comeuppance.

The rockets of that time were 8 to 10 feet high and weighed up to 300 pounds The anonymous writer of the Harper's article observed that "very pretty visitors these to come hissing into the midst of a town!"

In pre-Civil War days, war rockets were called "Congreve rockets" after their developer and ardent exponent, Sir William Congreve This gentleman, a sort of latter-day Wernher von Braun modestly insisted that all he did was perfect the rocket principles of the Chinese

The Harper's writer agreed Congreve was only tinkering with somebody else's ideas There was, after all, "undoubted testimony" that "the rocket used as a military weapon was known in Europe before the latter part of the 16th Century."

Goddard Reelected To National Society

WASHINGTON (UP) — Maurice K Goddard, state forests and waters secretary, has been re-elected to a two-year term as a member of the National Council of the Society of American Foresters

The society represents nearly 11,000 professional foresters Goddard is the only Pennsylvania member of the council presently and the first in more than 20 years

Atomic Energy to Generate Power for Greater Pittsburgh

By SELWYN FEINSTEIN

SHIPPINGPORT Pa (UP) — The awesome energy of the atom soon will generate electric power to light homes and power mills in the Greater Pittsburgh area

For the first time, the heat of a nuclear reactor will be used to turn the turbines of a generating station serving a privately-owned utility system exclusively.

With completion of tests, Duquesne Light Co will open operation of its Shippingport generating station and send out enough atomic-made power to light 150,000 homes This electricity will mingle in the lines with electricity generated at conventional coal and hydro-powered plants.

Start Final Tests

The reactor, situated in this little Ohio Valley community about 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, already has started final tests and is scheduled to begin full-scale operations in a month or two, according to the Atomic Energy Commission

Actual fissioning in the nuclear reactor at the station started and the plant went "critical" on Dec. 2, just 15 years to the day that Enrico Fermi first demonstrated a self-sustaining, nuclear chain reaction at a squash court on the University of Chicago campus.

The Shippingport reactor, built by Westinghouse Electric Corp for the AEC controls the nuclear chain reaction and makes use of its power for man's good

The tremendous heat generated during atomic fission will bring water to "superhot" temperatures. This water will produce the steam to spin turbine generators and produce the electric power that will go to commercial customers of the Duquesne Light Co. in the greater Pittsburgh area.

Three years effort and 110-million dollars went into this plant

Ike Opens Era

President Eisenhower opened the commercial atomic era on Labor Day, 1954, when he waved a neutron wand over some electronic devices in Denver and set in motion at Shippingport an unmanned power shovel which scooped up the first dirt loads.

Since then 400,000 cubic yards of earth have been replaced by 56,000 cubic yards of concrete and nearly 6,000 tons of reinforced steel

The reactor itself sits on a seven foot thick mat of concrete behind concrete walls five feet thick.

The business section of the atomic reactor is a spherical container 38 feet in diameter, taller than most three-story buildings. Inside the sphere is a stainless steel vessel 35 feet high that weighs 250 tons. It has walls of steel eight inches thick.

Inside the pressure vessel is the heart of the reactor—the coal bin—a tight package of stainless steel weighing 58 tons that carries the uranium charge.

Not Cheap Power

Duquesne Light says its generator will produce a minimum of 60,000 kilowatts, enough power to supply the family needs of cities such as Bridgeport, Conn., Tacoma, Wash., or Flint, Mich.

It will not be cheap power. The cost of atomic-generated electricity from Shippingport will cost about 65 cents for 10 kilowatt hours, compared to about two cents for the same period with coal-generated electricity.

But the Shippingport reactor was not built for its economy "The success of this plant eventually will mean great benefits for people everywhere," said Westinghouse President Gwilym A. Price "It may indeed be the first dawning of the new age of plenty which the world has so long awaited"

State to End Long Lawrence Detour

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department said today it will eliminate a 22-mile detour at a construction project in Lawrence County this week

The department said more than one mile of concrete pavement has been laid along Traffic Route 18 so that motorists can avoid the lengthy detour during winter months. The detour was for trucks traveling between New Castle and Ellwood City.

Automobiles traversed a six-mile detour not available to truck traffic because of the low weight limit on a bridge.

Cowboy Boots Big Business

By HAROLD JONES

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—It may be that of all the people who buy cowboy boots, Jessel Cohn got the most mileage out of a pair he bought in 1934.

He paid $65 for a hand-made pair of cowboy boots and never wore them.

Instead, he went to a hotel room in a dusty little Texas town and cut the boots to pieces. Cohn wanted to know how something that expensive was made.

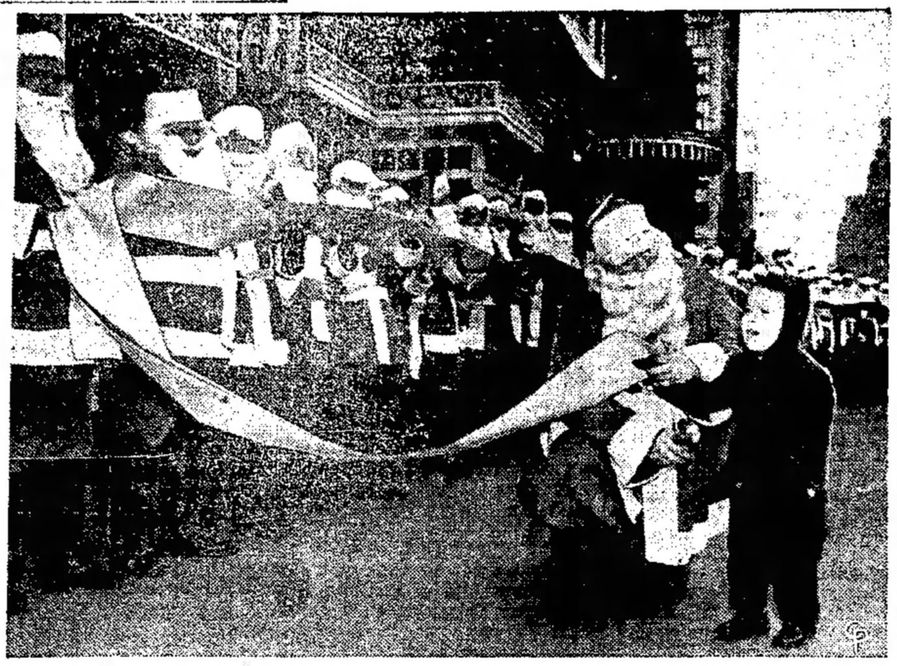
When he returned to his Acme Boot Co. in Clarksville, Tenn., he showed what was left of the boots to his two sons, Marvin and Sidney. They figured it would be a fine idea to scrap their children's shoes operation and go into the boot business, on a mass production scale.

Acme Nation's Largest

Since that day in the '30s, Acme has become the nation's largest maker of cowboy boots, with four Tennessee plants, at Ashland City, Clarksville, Springfield and Cookeville, employing a total of 1,400 people.

The prices of the 11,500 pairs of Acme boots turned out each day run considerably lower than the $65 Jessel Cohn shelled out for his pair. But one pair they made cost $3,500. This pair, ordered by Gene Autry, was made of leather from a grand champion steer that sold for $44,375. The leather was trimmed in gold.

One of the main factors in making 1957 Acme's best year is the emphasis on western shows on television. Small fry peering at TV screens see their heroes wearing boots and, of course, they want boots to clump around in, too.



SANTAS GET INSTRUCTIONS — George Cuesta 2, is confused as he faces 50 Santa Clauses in New York. The boy optimistically submits a yardlong list of what he wants for Christmas to the Santas, who were there to receive last-minute briefing before launching annual sidewalk appeal for funds for the Volunteers of America. The organization provides food packages for thousands of homeless and needy New Yorkers during the Christmas holiday.

Freezer Brings Store to Home

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a grocery store in your own home, ready to serve you 24 hours a day every day of the year?

It certainly would—particularly during this busy season—and anyone can have such a "store," with a chest or upright freezer.

The freezer "store" keeps your food bills down; stocks a wide variety of foods both in and out of season, and ensures wholesome meals for your family with a minimum of preparation.

Since freezers stock anywhere up to 900 pounds of food, you can buy in great quantities. This, of course, means infrequent shopping trips and greatly reduced food costs to you. No longer need you throw out left-overs since freezers keep today's food fresh and healthful for a period of weeks and months.

You're in for a host of compliments from your family because your freezer allows you to serve special dishes and a greater variety of food generally than you could possibly handle without the help of a freezer.

Treats Off Season

Strawberries in December are only one of innumerable seasonal foods you'll be able to serve anytime during the year, again thanks to your freezer.

If unexpected company used to throw you into a tizzy, force frantic visits to the food store, and shake your confidence in yourself as a housewife, your freezer will be an especially welcome addition to the home. Let the whole neighborhood drop in without notice now, and you're the epitome of calmness, satisfied with the knowledge you can handle any emergency on the food front.

Remember when even company you expected caused concern because there was insufficient room for the fancy dishes you were planning to serve? Well, a freezer takes care of that problem, too. As an owner of a freezer, you can expect a reputation as an exceptional hostess—and you'll deserve it.

A freezer is an awfully good friend in meal preparation, too. Come summertime you'll be extra thankful that a freezer lets you serve delicious, man-sized meals, which require only a brief reheating.

The secret is to select the cool early hours of a morning to cook three or four roasts with the same heat. Wrap the roasts, then store them in your freezer, and your cooking is just about done for the week. The old war cry about having to spend entire days cooking over a hot stove won't be valid any more.

The same way of cooking four or five vegetables at a time can save hours, in addition to reducing the use of gas or electricity.

If your family appreciates baked goods you can save yourself future time and trouble by baking a half dozen pies at a time storing in your freezer what you don't use immediately. Except for cream or custard pies, most pies will keep for two or three months, if you store them at zero temperature.

With a freezer, there's no longer a need for time-consuming canning to preserve your foods. Every day we hear of more foods being prepared in frozen form for the extra enjoyment of freezer owners. Virtually any food can be frozen successfully.

Freezing is a safe, easy way to preserve fruit and vegetables, meat, fish, poultry, game and baked or pre-baked foods. It will keep all the original flavor, color and nutritive value, providing there is proper wrapping.

A freezer means a lot of things—fewer shopping trips, decreased food bills and more efficient housekeeping are some. But most important, a freezer means freedom from drudgery for you, and happier meals and leisure time for you and your entire family.

County Egg Producers Find Business Better

Egg producers in Westmoreland County and elsewhere in Pennsylvania are finding the poultry business more favorable than a year ago, according to Associate County Agent Dale P. Jackson.

Higher prices and lower cost fees have improved the profit situation for eggs, Jackson stated.

Pennsylvania egg producers, he said, have followed the national trend by reducing the number of flock replacements by 17 per cent.

Holding over more hens, purchases of more sexed pullets and housing a higher percentage of the pullets purchased have offset some of the reduced purchases in laying flock replacements.

Increases in the rate of lay will offset some of the decline in the laying flock number. The rate of lay has been increasing at about the same rate as the increase in population. A higher per cent of hens in the laying flock is expected to slow down the increase in rate of lay.

The laying flock is expected to be 5 to 6 cents smaller on Jan. 1, 1958, than a year earlier. The smaller laying flock, coupled with lower feed prices, means higher egg prices in the first half of 1958.

Egg prices in the last half of 1958 will depend on the number of laying flock replacements raised. Too much expansion in flock size could bring a price situation similar to the last half of 1956 and first half of 1957.

Broiler production this year is record high, Jackson said. It will continue to expand in 1958. A small increase could be marketed at about the same prices as in 1957. Contractual arrangements tend to keep production steady even though prices drop.

Named to State Planning Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—The State Planning Board today announced the appointment of Henry van Loon, Wilton, Conn., as its executive secretary at an annual salary of $15,000.

Board Chairman John P. Robin, Philadelphia, said van Loon's appointment was retroactive to Dec. 2. He said van Loon would carry out the directives of the nonpolitical board in "interpreting the state's future growth and recommending programs for its most effective development."

Van Loon has had 25 years experience in making studies of city planning, housing and economic areas in the U.S. and abroad.

The Wrong Time

CHICAGO (UP) — Kurt Richter, instrument technician at Adler Planetarium has just one regret about his retirement today, his 65th birthday. "Just when people are really getting anxious to learn about space, I'm retiring," the telescope expert said.

Parents Protest; Pageants Banned

CAMDEN, N.J. (UP)—Religious Christmas pageants have been banned from all Delaware Township schools after complaints from several parents.

Dr. Carleton M. Saunders, superintendent of schools, said Monday that pageants on religion are illegal in New Jersey. He said township schools have presented such pageants every year, but that this year was the first time any parents complained.

The action meant cancellation of several scheduled Nativity pageants. The ban does not include pageants about Santa Claus.

Saunders said teachers also have been ordered to refrain from discussing Jewish religious festivals or presenting pageants based on Judaism.

Bananas Is Low Calorie Tasty Fruit

The nutritionists are re-evaluating many foods. This is necessary because certain fallacies have been accepted as facts. For instance, take the banana — which all children adore. Years ago it was considered indigestible.

This was probably because there was no realization of the difference in quality between a ripe and unripe banana. Of course, people do not like the flavor of an overripe banana, but there is a happy medium between this and what has been called a green banana. Actually, the banana is yellow in color but the ends may be green. There should be a slight flecking of brown which indicates the fruit is ready to eat.

Another false conception is that the banana is very high in calories. Actually, one medium-size banana supplies only eight units of energy, little more than the number supplied by a medium-size orange. In addition, it gaves a fairly liberal supply of minerals and vitamins.

The low sodium and fat content and the absence of cholesterol are also assets when special menus must be planned to meet certain conditions. Perhaps the greatest contribution of the banana remains — as has always been the case — the enjoyment most people get when they eat it, whether with a meal or as an in-between-meal snack.

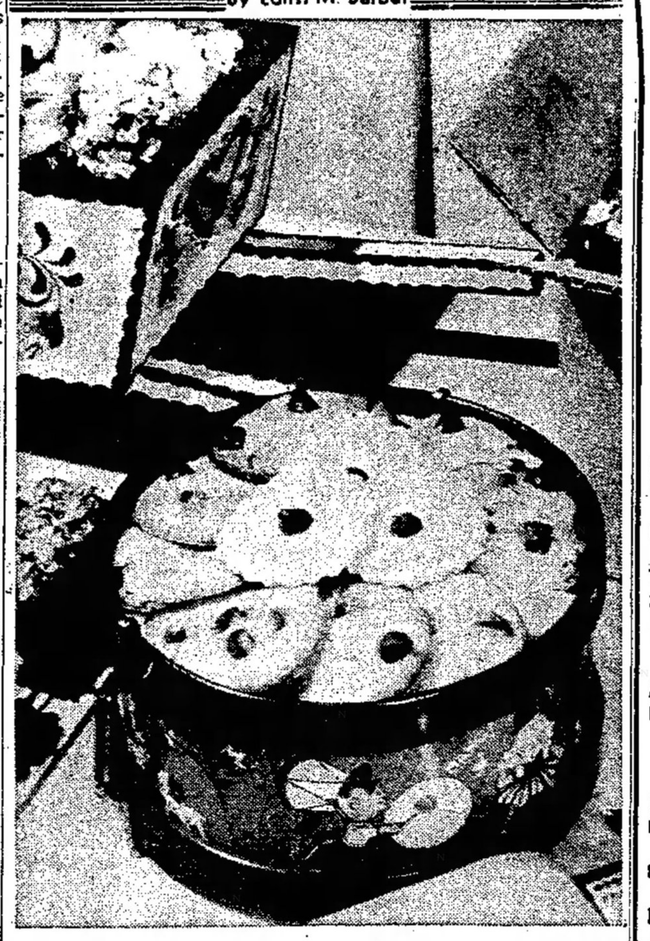
YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber



CHRISTMAS COOKY TIME is close at hand, and the sooner you start a-mixing and a-baking, the sooner you can wrap and ship them.

Thick Cookies Are Holiday Must; Better to Mail

With Christmas shopping and plans for the holiday facing us, all at once we realize we must begin to think about those Christmas cookies which many of us like to have on hand to serve to guests or to pack into boxes for favorite friends.

Edith Barber

Fortunately, most cookies keep very well if stored in tin tightly fitting covers. Whenever we find an odd hour or two, we can mix up the batters, and store them in the refrigerator to be baked in installments as we find a little spare time. Then when we are ready to pick up attractive boxes of suitable size and to have on hand rolls of waxed paper or thin plastic and foil for putting between layers.

If the boxes are to be mailed, the cookies should not be too thin and crisp, as even when they are marked "Special Handling," the best post office can give them little special attention at this rush season. Thick drop cookies, sometimes known as nuggets, and bars will carry well.

Every one likes cookies of the brownie type, and a rich cookie batter containing chocolate morsels is a favorite. Date and nut bars will also be appreciated. Other types of cooky recipes will be published next week.

SEMISWEET CHOCOLATE BAR COOKIES

1 12-ounce jumbo package (2 cups) or 2 6-ounce packages (2 cups) semisweet chocolate morsels
2-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
4 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup whole pecans (about)
¾ cup chopped nuts

Put semisweet chocolate morsels and shortening in top of double boiler. Heat over hot water until melted, and mix until smooth. Pour into bowl. Add sugar and mix thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to chocolate mixture and mix until blended. Pour into greased 10 x 15 x ¾-inch pan. Place pecan halves in rows on top of ½ the batter. Sprinkle chopped nuts over remaining half. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes. When cool, cut into bars about 2½ x 1-inch. Yield: 60 bars.

DATE AND NUT BARS

¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup chopped nut meats
1 cup sliced dates

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat eggs until light. Add sugar gradually, and beat well. Stir in sifted dry ingredients combined with nut meats and dates. Bake in greased 8-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Cool slightly and cut in 4 x 1-inch strips. Roll in confectioners sugar, if desired. Yield: 16 bars.

QUICK MEAL

Hamburg patties, baked potatoes, baked acorn squash, avocado-fruit salad, toasted crackers, coffee.

ORDER OF PREPARATION

Light oven; prepare potatoes and bake; prepare halved squash and bake; prepare hamburg patties; prepare avocado-fruit salad; pan-broil patties; make coffee; toast crackers.

New Appliances Mak e Year-Around Gifts

The appliances that you receive to make your Christmas a White Christmas will be on hand to serve you 365 days a year.

Long after the mistletoe has fallen from its archway perch, and the tree ornaments have been stored on the top shelf for another year, the appliances at your disposal will continue to make your day easier and your role as a homemaker more fulfilling.

Just look around the house at your helpers: washer, dryer, ironer, range, freezer, refrigerator, dishwasher, water heater and others. They are ready to serve your needs at the press of a button or the flip of a switch. Put them to work for you and all the usual chores around the house are suddenly made easier. Not only will you get the job done faster, but with less effort.

One strong team to help you around the house is your automatic laundry equipment. While you are taking care of some of the work upstairs, the washer and dryer are pitching in with some of the heaviest work downstairs.

For example, as the floors are being washed or waxed, the shag or scatter rugs that covered them can be in the process of washing and drying, all automatically.

Two Things at Once

And when you're polishing up the windows in the kitchen or bedroom, just throw the curtains into the washer. By the time all the windows are finished, the curtains will be dry. If they are made of the new synthetic fabrics, chances are they can be hung right up. If not, your automatic ironer will take care of the pressing job in a few shakes.

The washer and dryer team can, of course, be used to launder the best table linen or the most fragile and sensitive clothing in your closet or drawers. Your machine's setting for delicate fabrics will give these valuable treasures as careful a washing as if you were doing it by hand—and with less work for you.

One job that has to be done about three times a day, every day of the year (except when you're lucky enough to go to a restaurant for dinner) is the dishes. This task takes up more of milady's time during the course of her day—and year—than any other household chore. With an automatic dishwasher standing by ready to aid you in your kitchen, the miseries of dishwashing are a thing of the past.

You will always be sure that all your dishes, silverware, and glassware will be bacteria-free when this appliance unlooses its spray of scalding hot water and detergent.

While You ~eep

A steady stream of this hot water, whether it be for your clothes, house cleaning, or your own bath, is always assured when there is a rapid recovery water heater supplying your needs.

In your kitchen you have two appliances that work even when you are sleeping, to make sure that the foods you bought are stored properly and kept until you are ready to cook or eat them—your freezer and refrigerator.

With a freezer in the house, it's actually possible to begin making a special dinner weeks in advance. You can do the preparation when you have some extra time on your hands. When it's time to get it ready for the table, all you have to do is thaw it out and it will taste as if you just finished making it.

The refrigerator is indispensable for the cold storage of foods that are to be used within a reasonable length of time. With the newest conveniences in these appliances, there is never any trouble finding the butter, cheeses, bacon, vegetables, eggs, and many other items, because there are special bins for their placement.

When it comes to cooking, every homemaker can vie for top honors when she owns a modern kitchen range. Whether it's used to simply keep a pot of mashed potatoes warm or in the preparation of a delicate sauce, a new range can serve you with temperature controlling features, timers, thermometers and other conveniences.

Must Sell Assets

CAIRO (UP)—The Cairo branch of the American Express Company has been given five years to sell its assets to Egyptians, it was disclosed today. Five years is the maximum time permitted for such changeovers under the "Egyptianization" laws passed earlier this year.

Winter Driving Facts Presented By Safety Council Committee

CHICAGO — A commonly asked question — "What's the difference in performance between various tires and tire chains on snow and ice?" — has been answered through tests conducted by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council.

The committee, composed of 30 experts from all fields of automotive engineering, traffic safety and law enforcement, has issued a clarifying statement concerning stop-and-go help as follows:

Snow Tires?

"Some say snow tires are good — others say snow tires are no good. Just what will snow tires do for you?

"The better snow tires are a big help in loose snow and slush. They are not much better than regular tires, however, on ice or very hard packed snow.

"Tread treatments of some types, known as "winterizing" give a small amount of tractive advantage on hard icy surfaces which might mean the difference between moving and not moving."

Tire Chains

"Reinforced tire chains have each link of the cross chain reinforced by projecting teeth or cleats. They cut braking distances in half on both snow and ice. . . increase traction to start or climb hills up to seven times over that with regular tires on ice. . .outpull regular tires nearly four times on packed snow.

"On glare ice, reinforced tire chains reduce braking distances — have a much better resistance to side skids — increase forward traction better than anything tested.

"Regular or round wire link chains provide good stop-and-go traction on snow and ice, but their side-skid resistance on ice is poor compared to reinforced tire chains."

Effect of Temperatures

Concerning the great effect of temperatures, the Committee points out that the difference between zero degrees and 30 above can increase skidding distances at only 20 MPH by over 100 feet. Their statement follows:

"Temperature can change stopping distances on ice. Stopping distances are considerably longer when temperatures are near the melting point than when they are near zero. A small temperature rise or a little sunshine can make ice wet and slippery within a few minutes. Use of tire chains provides the shortest possible stopping distances, regardless of temperature."

Their tests prove that a car with new tires going at 20 MPH on glare ice may stop at 114 feet at zero degrees, but the same car at the same speed takes 235 feet to stop at 30 degrees above zero. With reinforced tire chains, the braking distance was about 77 feet regardless of the varying temperatures.

Traction Facts

The Committee report illustrated various traction abilities and stopping distances on snow and ice with different commonly used equipment as follows:

Concerning starting and hill climbing traction ability on glare ice, tests showed snow tires are only 28 per cent better than regular tires. Regular tire chains, however, were 231 per cent better, while reinforced tire chains proved to have 40 per cent better traction on ice than regular tires.

On loosely packed snow, snow tires were reported as 51 per cent better while reinforced tire chains were rated at 313 per cent improvement over regular tires.

Stopping Ability

Braking distances on loosely packed snow with various equipment at speeds of 20 MPH were as follows: regular tires, 60 feet; snow tires, 52 feet; regular tire chains, 46 feet, and reinforced tire chains, 38 feet.

On Ice

On glare ice, however, average stopping distances at only 20 MPH were dangerously longer. They follow: regular tires, 195 feet; snow tires, 174 feet; regular tire chains, 99 feet, and reinforced tire chains, 77 feet. While tests have shown snow tires provide added traction, tire chains were found to be far more reliable for both stop-and-go traction in deep snow, hard-packed snow and glare ice conditions.

Single copies of a report, entitled "How to Go on Ice and Snow," may be obtained free by writing National Safety Council, Chicago 11, Illinois.

Rudolph no Symbol For Christmas

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—The Springfield Park Commission says Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer is not a symbol of Christmas. The commission Monday night turned down a chamber of Commerce request that live deer be included in a downtown Nativity scene.

Inside Story of Ike's Stroke Told

WASHINGTON (UP) — What went on in the White House when President Eisenhower suffered his mild stroke Nov. 5?

The inside story was told publicly for the first time by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams Monday night in a speech to the Republican finance dinner at St Louis Adams gave this sequence of events

"The first indication that the President was indisposed was his own statement of feeling chilled after returning from the Washington airport where he went to meet officially the head of a foreign state He had to stand in the cold for a considerable time he thereupon went to the White House and went to bed The doctor was called at once

"In turn the President's doctor in consultation with other doctors diagnosed that the President had sustained what people commonly call a minor stroke

"Meanwhile, on the business side of the White House, a lot of things were going on

"I at once telephoned the Vice President and advised him of the President's illness The same message was communicated to various members of the President's cabinet Key members of the White House staff were notified

"The night the President sustained his latest trouble, he was almost adamant about attending the state dinner he had arranged for the King of Morocco. The day afterwards he put up a vigorous argument about coming to his office, then talked seriously about holding a press conference. Failing to talk the doctors into either of these ventures, he directed that staff members bring him certain documents, and this was done.

"The next day , he got more heavily into the business of his office. The following day he left the White House to go to church

Air Force in New Assault on Speed Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)— The Air Force today planned a new assault on the British-held world speed mark even though it failed to qualify a record-shattering performance Tuesday because of malfunction of a camera.

A swept-wing, F-101A Voodoo fighter-bomber, piloted by Maj. Adrian E. Drew of Bergstrom AFB, Tex., Tuesday flashed at nearby 1,200 miles an hour over a 10.1 mile straightaway course to break unofficially the 1,132 mile-an-hour world mark.

However, the failure of a camera which recorded part of the jet's smashing performance prevented official recognition of the flight by the National Aeronautic Association.

"Another flight will be made, possibly on Thursday or Friday—weather permitting — in an attempt to better the record," an Air Force spokesman said.

L. P. Twiss set the present world speed mark in March, 1956, in the Fairey Delta — a British-built research ship.

U. S. Has Five Long-range Missiles Under Development

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States has five long-range ballistic missiles in various stages of development. They are called Thor, Jupiter, Polaris, Atlas and Titan.

Russia has at least two. They are called T-2 and T-3.

All seven of these missiles are designed to carry hydrogen bomb warheads. Powered by huge rockets, they are fired into space hundreds of miles above the earth and travel at supersonic speeds, usually 10,000 miles an hour or faster.

Built-in controls guide the missile during its first few seconds of powered flight. Once the rocket burns out, the missile follows a fixed trajectory, like a rifle bullet, toward its target. Hence the name "ballistic missile."

Military men divide these missiles into two types, according to the distance they travel. Intermediate range ballistic missiles, commonly called IRBM's, are designed to hit targets at least 1,500 miles away. Intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM's) are those which travel about 5,000 miles.

Thor and Jupiter are IRBM's developed by the Air Force and Army respectively. Both have successfully passed flight tests at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Their maximum range is reported to exceed 2,000 miles.

The U.S. Navy is working on a third IRBM, the Polaris. It is still about a year away from the flight-testing stage.

Russia's IRBM is the T-2. It has been undergoing flight tests, virtually on a weekly basis, since 1955. Not much is known here about the T-2.

Atlas and Titan are ICBM's being developed by the U S. Air Force.

The long-range ballistic missiles are the so-called "ultimate weapons" of the international armaments race. But both the United States and Russia have in their arsenals a large variety of other missiles which are pretty awesome by comparison with conventional weapons.

The U. S. Air Force, for example, has in production a missile called the Snark which recently travelled 5,000 miles and landed accurately on its target. The Snark is powered by turbojet engines rather than rockets. It has short wings, and is guided throughout its flight by built-in controls. Its speed is slightly less than the speed of sound.

Rascal New Missile

Another recent addition to the U.S. Strategic Air Command's weaponry is the Rascal. This is a rocket-powered missile which can be launched from a B-47 Stratojet bomber about 300 miles or more from the taret.

The United States also has 15 missiles designed primarily for defense against enemy air attack Six of these—the Army's Nike-Ajax, the Navy's Terrier and Sparrow 1, and the Air Force's Falcon and Genie—already are in operational use. The others, in various stages of development and testing, are designed to do the same job better.

The BoMarc is a very long range, high speed air defense missile with advanced electronic guidance systems.

Russia has at least five anti-aircraft missiles called M-1, T-6, T-7, T-8 and GVA-1.

Another large family of missiles is designed to replace conventional field and naval artillery. The largest of this class are the U.S. Army's Redstone and Russia's T-1. Both are modifications of Germany's V-2 rockets of World War II, with ranges of 200 to 400 miles.

Suspect Sought In Disappearance Of Little Girl

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)— Authorities today sought to link a convicted sex offender accused of molesting a nine-year-old girl with the mysterious disappearance of Maria Ridulph.

FBI agents and police were led Tuesday night to the ex-convict's hideaway, an empty stone building on an abandoned military reservation 14 miles south of here, by the little girl found sleeping in a car with Donald Arbuckle, 34.

A preliminary investigation showed nothing to identify Arbuckle with the Ridulph case, agents said, but they said his room in Rockford was stocked with photographs of nude children, some in obscene poses.

Police said the arrest of Arbuckle was the first possible break in the case of the missing seven-year-old Ridulph girl. Maria disappeared from near her Sycamore, Ill. home with a man known as "Johnny" last Tuesday night.

Arbuckle was arrested Tuesday morning when he and a nine-year-old girl who had been missing 12 hours were found sleeping in his car, he in the front seat, she in the back.

Pakistan Cabinet Quits in Squabble

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP) — Prime Minister I. L. Chundrigar submitted the resignation of his cabinet today to President Iskander Mirza as a result of a domestic political squabble.

The president immediately asked Chundrigar to form a new government and he agreed to try.

Chundrigar's government resigned because the Republican party pulled out of an agreement which formed the basis of Chundrigar's coalition cabinet.

Nursery Age Big Problem

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Time and again I have heard parents say: "When our Johnnie is old enough, we're going to send him to nursery school."

Far too often, I'm afraid, this determination to send a pre-school age youngster off to a nursery school is simply a desire to get him out of the house and out of the way. Few will admit it, I realize that. But in many families I suspect this is really the case.

Actually, nursery schools have a great value in helping youngsters eventually to become good citizens. They do not, however, serve as a substitute for the home and family. They cannot take over the duties or responsibilities of the parents.

Just how much value a nursery school will have for any specific child depends upon how the school is run, the attitude of the teachers and parents, and the age of the child.

A few words about the latter.

As a rule, it would be inadvisable to send a child of the age of 2 to nursery school and expect good results. At this tender age, a youngster needs the help and constant love of his mother if that is at all possible.

His limited vocabulary makes it just about impossible for him to make all his needs and wants known. Then too, at the age of 2 he won't want to share his possessions with other children. This, as you can easily see, might lead to trouble with other kids at the school.

Even at the age of 2½, the demands of a nursery school generally are too much for a child of this age to cope with. He couldn't cooperate to the degree that is necessary for a school to be harmonious.

After the age of 3, a majority of children are ready for nursery school. By this time a youngster's vocabulary generally has advanced so that he can assert himself.

Also, whether you mothers like it or not, by this age your child is becoming less dependent upon you. He is ready to play with other children and probably wants a chance to test his strength in physical endeavors.

Question and Answer

J.R.M.: I find myself getting short of breath. Sometimes it is difficult to catch my breath. What do you think is the matter?

Answer: Shortness of breath may be due to heart or lung disease. Asthma is a frequent cause.

TRADE PACT OKAYED

ROME (UP)— Trade exchanges between Italy and Russia will total 480 million dollars during the four-year period, 1958-62, it was announced officially today. From Hollywood—

Program Appeals for Homeless in Europe

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — TV undergoes its first hour-and-a-half-long commercial next week when a young husband and wife team appears in a drama based on their own project to aid homeless Europeans.

The show, "Playhouse 90," amounts to a gigantic plug for "Help" — Homeless European Land Program — a project to aid refugees.

Don Murray and his wife, Hope Lang, purchased 130 acres of land in Sardinia to resettle refugees in Italian camps. The idea was approved by the UN which contributed additional funds. Care is supplying food until the first crops are harvested.

More Money Needed

But the project may fold unless the youngsters raise more money.

Murray, a pacifist and conscientious objector, spent two years in Italy as a social worker during the Korean War. Since then he has dedicated himself to helping the derelicts of Europe.

"Our community on Sardinia is a pilot program to relocate 15 to 20 families in a self - supporting community," Hope said while her husband rehearsed for the CBS-TV program. "We began on a shoestring. Now we need help.

"We've spent all our own money to get things going. We borrowed on our salaries for this TV show to meet payments on the land. We haven't even been able to furnish our home yet," she smiled.

"We're not complaining. Don and I want other people to join in giving funds to continue the work. Eventually we hope to relocate all 50,000 refugees in Europe still living in camps."

A far cry from most young acting couples in movietown, the Murrays are deeply religious and dedicated to their cause.

Neither are able to put their feelings in words, nor can they explain why they've undertaken such a tremendous task. Rather than sermonize on brotherly love, the Murrays shrug and say it is something they are compelled to do.

Hope is a pert green - eyed blonde who married Don shortly after they completed their roles in "Bus Stop." They drive a second hand car and avoid Hollywood's night life.

"I guess you could say Don is keeping a promise to himself," Hope concluded. "When he was in Italy he decided if he ever had the opportunity he would help.

"Now that he's an actor and earning a good salary Don is making his dreams come true."

Promotion Fund For Blair County

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Commerce Department said today first-quarter payments of industrial development promotion funds are being sent to Blair County.

Department Secretary William R. Davlin said the Altoona Enterprises, Inc., would receive a $2,106 quarterly payment. The money is for promoting the industrial advantages of the county.

TV Review—

TV Has Shortage Of Comics

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)— This has been a sad season for the funny-bone.

Ernie Kovacs, one of TV's larger talents, no longer has his own show. Sid Caesar, who kicks off a pre-shrunk series on ABC-TV next month, hasn't been seen at all. Jackie Gleason has been playing golf.

What's on TV? Well, there's Red Skelton, but he's for specialized tastes — for specialists of about the age nine. Groucho Marx confines himself to that quiz show. There's George Gobel, but Lonesome George doesn't seem to take off anymore.

Silvers As Sgt. Bilko

Is that all? No, thank goodness, that isn't all. There is still Phil Silvers — Sgt. Ernie Bilko and that wacky, wonderful CBS-TV platoon.

The Silvers' show is now in its third year.

Tuesday night's episode was a typical essay in insanity. The plot was almost cyclonically absurd—a balloon excursion into the ionosphere, a Sgt. Bilko discovery that he is really a lieutenant, a mix-up over some back pay and some other narrative salad too complicated to put into English. Algebra maybe. But not English.

Calls it Funny

Anyway, it was funny.

Silvers' Bilko is the most perfectly realized character in TV. And Silvers plays it with the casual ease of the blessed.

Bilko is a swindler, a liar, a cheat. He is a card sharp, a borrower of money, a wench-ogler and snorer of loud snores. But he is also endearing. That is Silvers' triumph.

Each Silvers show is a kind of small morality play in which evil gets its come-uppance and virtue emerges victor.

In Tuesday night's episode, Sgt. Bilko enlisted for three more years. Here's hoping he makes it as a 30-year man.

The channel swim...

Judy Tyler, the young actress killed in an auto crash last summer, makes her last dramatic appearance in a filmed "Perry Mason" episode this Saturday...CBS-TV has picked Jack Narz to emcee its new "Dollar Dotto".

Jan Murray is virus-bugged—Tom Reddy is quarterbacking "Treasure Hunt" in Jan's absence...Arthur Godfrey will take a two-weeks break from his CBS-morning show.

If we must have panel shows, "To Tell The Truth" is about as painless as any. And Jack Paar adds sharpness to the board.

ABC-TV's "Sugarfoot" came up with the night's most beautiful line. Said the bad man to the bad lady: "You're as rotten as I am. Maybe that's why I'm crazy about you."

Sarah Churchill will star in one NBC-TV "Matinee Theatre" each month for the next six months... Steve Allen is pitching a one-year exclusive TV pact at Sam Levenson that would guarantee Sam 12 shots on Allen's NBC-TV opus.

The wonderful world of TV: The producer of this Sunday's "Seven Lively Arts" show called "Here Is New York" used about 30 Bowery bums in one filmed scene. He kept 'em happy by setting up $25 worth of drinks in a local oasis.

Helium and hyrdogen are the gases with the greatest lifting power. Hydrogen is the more powerful, but helium is more satisfactory because it is non-inflammable and inert.

Perry Junior Student Wins Scholarship

The Junior Chamber of Commerce members from Brownsville and Uniontown feted the winners of their annual "Voice of Democracy" contest at "My Cousin's Place" near Brownsville.

Libby Lee Hough, Perryopolis, a Junior at Perry schools, winner of the four year scholarship, delivered her speech at the dinner. Toastmaster was Lloyd Sprinkle, who introduced State Sen. Thomas Kalman, who had secured the senatorial scholarship.

Other winners were Barbara Whetsel, Brownsville and Mary Ann Petrunya, Uniontown.

Libby Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bachoffer. Attending the banquet from Perryopolis were Mrs. Ada Kuhns, Libby Lee's coach and teacher, and her mother, Mrs. Bachoffer, and Joseph Yeash, teacher at Perry schools.

Motorcade Cars To Be Limited

WASHINGTON (UP)—The number of cars in presidential motorcades is going to be limited from now on because of a slippery drive from the President's farm to Washington.

The President's car was not involved in any way. But two other cars in a 15-car motorcade were involved in minor skidding accidents on the rainy afternoon trip Monday.

Hagerty said the answer would be to double up newsmen and photographers in cars and 'limit the number of cars in the motorcade." He said there were too many cars with only one occupant.

Cub Scouts in Recent Meeting; To Renew Charter
